TRY TO BE THANKFUL
GOOD TIMES AHEAD.
A MONSTER IN ICE.
A NAKED RACE? NEVER.

By Arthur Brisbane
(Copyright 1930 By King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Tomorrow comes Thanksgiving day, only a few hours are left to find reasons for thankfulness.

You are alive, and have chances left.

Your country is not yet in the League of Nations.

Bootlegging, racketeering and official corruption have become so bad that they can't get worse.

Other countries are worse off than we, a poor comfort, but some comfort.

There is no famine, plague, war or real panic.

In fact, we have too much of everything, coal, sugar, oil, wheat and turkeys are cheap.

Be thankful if you can feel thankful. It is good for the health. Pessimism and bitterness injure heart and mind.

Walter Sherman Gifford, head of the Gigantic American Telephone and Telegraph Co., expects good times to drive out bad times, SOON.

His opinion is important, for the telephone company, reaching everywhere and everybody, is well informed.

Mr. Gifford thinks we are going to see such prosperity as never was, and we may enjoy a sort of Utopia, with the spirit of service and good will governing big business.

It's a lovely picture, but let us hope better times will come without waiting for the Utopia. That will not come until human nature shall have changed, say in 10,000 years, probably longer.

This news will keep scientists from sleeping.

On Glacier Island, near Cordova, in Alaska, a strange creature has been found imprisoned in a block of ice. It looks like a giant lizard with fur, in perfect condition.

The head is six feet long, the total length nearly 50 feet. Millions of years ago, probably before men had appeared on earth, that creature was locked up in solid ice and preserved through the tens of thousands of centuries.

Moral: Get an idea, develop it, and it will make you rich, especially if it appeals to human vanity.

New York, having been rather successful about crime and racket in Chicago, the big Lake City, will attend with some interest to revelation.

COUNTY'S ROAD PATROL HALTS POULTRY RAIDS

Sheriff Organizes Force To Combat Farm Robberies

TWO ARE NABBED BY BARLOW UNIT

Offensive Against Thefts Will Be Continued Indefinitely

The Columbiana county night road patrol, organized 10 days ago by Sheriff William S. Barlow, will continue operations indefinitely Barlow announced today.

The patrol was formed chiefly for the purpose of halting poultry raids and farm robberies.

Initial results of the patrols activities came with the arrest Saturday of Richard Hewitt, 28, and Ray Graves, 30, Youngstown, paroled prisoners.

Hewitt and Graves, Sheriff Barlow said today, probably will be arraigned before Justice Claude Albright in Lisbon.

In the last 10 days or since the patrol was formed, only one report has been filed with the sheriff's office.

Sheriff Barlow heads the patrol group, which includes Deputy Frank Ballentine, Dave Yost, Roy Lewton, C. E. Donahay, dog warden, and George Lewis, Salem constable.

The patrol is "on the go" virtually every night and usually manages to cover the entire county.

Last night, according to the sheriff's report, the group covered 149 miles.

The six members are divided in three pairs and each night each pair covers a designated section of the county.

DOLLARS LINE UP FOR WAR ON UNEMPLOYMENT

"Buy Now" Drive Offers Solution To Problem Of Idleness

The "Buy Now" campaign, launched by merchants of the Salem district, with the co-operation of manufacturers and bankers, is a long step in solving the unemployment situation, sponsors of the movement pointed out today.

If the public can be encouraged to "buy now", merchants will be compelled to purchase new stocks for their stores thereby speeding up industrial plants engaged in the production of various lines of merchandise. As manufacturing increases additional workers will be placed on the payrolls.

"The sooner we appreciate that it is everybody's business to make business better the sooner we all will be benefited," said a statement issued by representative merchants today.

"Business on Upgrade

"Of course, everybody wants business to be better. Therefore it is natural to suppose that everyone is willing to do all he or she can to make it so.

"A year ago something happened that upset the applecart. We called it a 'depression', 'hard times', 'the result of the stock market crash', 'a business cycle',—and many other names not so formal.

"But indications are that this is now past history; that we have turned the corner, and are headed up grade.

"More prosperous days are ahead! With new confidence we look to the future, realizing that no single

TURKEY DINNER ARRANGED FOR 200 CHILDREN

Youngsters To Be Fed Tonight At Memorial Building

KELLEY DIRECTS FETE FOR NEEDY

Music, Readings, Movies On Entertainment Program

Roast turkey, good old-fashioned gravy and dressing, country-made jam, celery, ice cream and cake and everything else that goes with the best of Thanksgiving day—menus will be served Salem youngsters between the ages of four and 14 years at the Memorial building auditorium tonight. J. M. Kelley, Memorial building manager, is making arrangements for more than 200 "guests."

Children who, in surveys conducted by the Salem Red Cross chapter, Salvation Army, public and St. Paul's Catholic school leaders have been listed as needy, have been invited.

George Mounts, Salem, will give a series of humorous readings, and the evening's activities will be climaxed with showing of comedy movies by W. H. Dunn, head of the Red Cross chapter here.

The entire affair is expected to last for more than an hour, the motion pictures being scheduled to entertain for 40 minutes while there will be enough for the kiddies to eat as long as they are able to gnaw on drumsticks. The dinner will start at 6 p. m.

Funds Raised By Dances

Funds for the dinner were raised through charity dances held in Salem last Thursday night, one at the Memorial building and another at the Foresters' hall, Vine avenue.

The home office listed the number of seriously injured at 152. Houses destroyed numbered 645 and 4,499 buildings were seriously damaged. Seventy-nine other buildings were razed by fire.

The home office announced there were 223 known dead in the Izu region. The governor of Kanagawa prefecture reported 27 deaths in the Hakone district.

TOKYO, Nov. 26.—At least 215 persons were killed and several hundred injured today in eastern Japan's most destructive earthquake since the disaster of 1923.

Striking a score of towns and villages of northern Izu peninsula, the playground of Japan, at 4:03 a. m. (2:03 p. m. E. S. T. Tuesday) the quake destroyed or seriously damaged 4,500 buildings according to an official estimate. It climaxed a series of earthquakes in that area since November 10.

Begin Casualty Checkup

With communications partially restored in the stricken area, which is 125 miles southwest of here, authorities began the tragic tally of the casualties. The home ministry's announcement this evening of 215 deaths was matched by a survey by Rengo News Agency showing 219 dead.

Fires, landslides and bursting reservoirs added to the havoc after the quake had reached its maximum of violence. Many communities had yet to be heard from and their reports were expected to enlarge the death toll. Property losses already have been estimated in the scores of millions of yen.

Reports indicated the heaviest blow fell upon the area extending from Mishima to Numazu, a region

WHY HAVE THANKSGIVING

"It is in especial manner our duty as a people, with devout
reverence and affectionate gratitude, to acknowledge our many
and great obligations to Almighty God and to implore him
to continue and confirm the
blessings which we experience."

George Washington wrote this in
a Thanksgiving proclamation to honor the king of France while the
revolutionary troops were wintering
at Valley Forge. Taken out of its peculiar setting of abject misery,
discouragement, poverty and death
it still retains enough intrinsic significance to be timely on Thanksgiving day 1930.

There is grumbling now, as there
was at Valley Forge, and at Plymouth, too, in 1621 when Governor
Bradford proclaimed the first
Thanksgiving day on the North American continent. Many will mutter, as they did then, will ask
what they have to be thankful for.
There is economic depression, they
will say. People are hungry. Business is bad. They will display, in short, an extremely inconsistent propensity to exult in their imaginary
sackcloth and ashes. They blend themselves willfully to the fact that everything is being done to help the
hungry that can be done, that no
one is being allowed to suffer without the comfort that comes from
knowing there is someone to help,
and that conditions are better than
they ever have been before in a similar period. They will indulge, in short, in the foolish fallacy of comparing what they think ought to be
with the best that earnest men
and women ever have been able to produce.

What would have happened, one wonders, if Governor Bradford's
colleagues or the half-clothed soldiers
of the Continental army had been
as ready to complain or their terrific hardships as are some modern Americans whose relatively unimportant losses in the stock market
have soured them?

But the malcontents cannot spoil
Thanksgiving. They must yield to
the majority—the people who are
big enough to give thanks for what they have and to anticipate with
relish the hard work and changes
of circumstances which will bring them more.

The first Thanksgiving was packed with significance because it
was a spontaneous expression of
gratitude for something received
and appreciated. Some Americans have become soft ingrates from over-indulgence. Their minds have ceased to recognize and understand
certain fundamental qualities—
qualities which can make the poor
man happy while the wealthy man
broods. One does not need to be a Pollyanna to see these things. He needs only to clear his vision.

America is a land at peace. It is a nation of 120,000,000 people with a quick, intelligent consciousness of the needs of its unfortunate. More than any nation ever has done, it
is looking forward to the day when
the clash of groups and interests
will injure no one. America is still
a land of opportunity—where beg-
gar boys may become princes and
princes may act like beggar boys
if they choose. America's citizens are possessed of the innate intelligence
and opportunities which will enable them to solve the industrial problems that perplex the world. In less
time than it has taken most other
countries to stabilize one system of government America has risen to
one of the world's two or three
greatest and most tolerant nations.

You are part of this. You owe it
to your own sanity to ponder on the things for which you, your neighbors and your fellow Americans from the Atlantic to the Pacific owe obligations. That is the purpose of Thanksgiving.

JOSEF STALIN

The distinguished piece of reporting by Eugene Lyons, United Press
correspondent in Moscow, which has
given the world a sympathetically
conceived and executed sketch of Josef Stalin, Soviet leader and the most important man in the Communist party, will not gain any converts for Bolshevism, but it will
remove many enemies from Stalin.
The wise man is never intolerant of
people, only of things, and Mr.
Lyons has shown Stalin to be a purposeful, kindly man forced to assume certain semblances of ruthlessness by his tremendous responsibilities.

Americans, unless otherwise informed, have conceived of Stalin as
a "man of steel," a "rude" dictator
who has submerged his personality
for the sake of an experiment—has
made of himself a ruthless machine
for the sake of a governmental machine. Mr. Lyons erases these hard
lines and substitutes those softer,
more complete ones which personal
knowledge of a man's intentions and
capacities never fails to produce.

Stalin told Mr. Lyons that of all the nations in the world he thought
the United States, with which Russia is anxious to secure trade, is
the most eager to secure the truth
about the Soviets. He anticipates that Russia will become the world's largest producer of grain in a few
more years but laughs at the
charges of dumping that have been made against it. He points out that while Russia may be able to produce
some things more cheaply by sliminating speculators and middlemen
that its home markets will consume
all it can produce for many years
yet.

Capitalist and Communist systems can exist side by side, Stalin
believes, and remarks later in the interview that he cannot understand
why the foreign press is so hostile
to him. In this, incidentally, one detects a characteristic of the advocates of any social readjustment
which attempts to gain something at
the expense of a class—the eagerness to seize upon misunderstanding
and to interpret it as persecution. Stalin knows that if the Soviet is misunderstood it is because there
has been no means of learning
about it. On the other hand, there are those who disagree with Communism because they understand it
too well.

The kindly and apparently accurate picture which the world has been given of the Communist's
leader has done more to gain sympathy, to promote a desire for better understanding than all the
propaganda Russia could disseminate
in the next five years. Without understanding completely what Communism is doing in Russia
without believing, perhaps, in that
which it is trying to do elsewhere—
namely, to create a world revolution—many thousands of newspaper
readers know Josef Stalin better.

They have been made to realize
again that misunderstanding breeds
enemies—understanding, friendship.
They are willing to exercise that friendship as far as possible where
it concerns a man who is sworn
to start an international revolution.

What Others Say

THAT "THIRD PARTY" TALK

A successful effort by the so-
called progressive elements in congress to create a "third party" made up of malcontents from the Republican and Democratic ranks
might have any one of several results. Two possible immediate consequences that suggest themselves
are the appearance of a real bloc
system as a result of the operation
of a continuing disintegrative process, and a whole new realignment
of forces in which the more responsible representatives of the two great parties would work together up to a certain point and would incline to present a solid front against dissenters from both camps.

The second possibility may or may not be the more likely to develop
into reality, but it is the more logical of the two, and is the one that
would leave open a way for continuance of orderly party government
in this country. Indeed, if a general
inter-party revolt of the "progressive" forces at this time could be counted upon to produce such a finish, an encouragement of the secession might on the whole be a good thing. That sort of a break would
at least tend to unscramble the existing, almost impossible, situation under which a party label on a lapel
may mean anything or nothing—
except when there are committee
appointments to be distributed.

The condition that seems to militate most against any such development to the present upshot talk
among the members of the radical
crowd in congress, is the fact that
such a realignment would place the aggregation in a hopeless minority division and would rob it of
most of its power to make trouble.

Though they talk a lot, and furnish most of the noise that floats
from the doors of the national capitol
building, the "progressives" really
are comparatively few. Relatively,
they are only a handful, and much
of their prestige grows out of the circumstances that for a number of years they have been able to maintain a balance of power or near balance of power which those who
logically should squelch them have not had sense enough to destroy. So
they have exercised an influence on legislation and on public policy that
has been grossly out of proportion
to their numerical strength and to
the aggregate size of their popular
following. It seems difficult to believe that the leaders of the radical clique will be willing to risk losing their position of tactical advantage by open secession from the party they encumber.—Detroit Free Press.

BORDER POLICE QUESTIONED IN LIQUOR PROBE

Special Treasury Agents To Investigate Reports Of Graft

(By Associated Press)
DETROIT, Nov. 26.—Twenty or more customs border patrolmen were to appear before the federal grand jury today to explain under oath, actions considered suspicious by special treasury agents investigating reports of liquor graft here for several weeks.

No charges preferred
The border patrolmen were taken into custody yesterday. No charges were preferred but it was said that the special agents hold warrants which will be served if the patrolmen cannot explain their actions satisfactorily.

The investigation was conducted secretly and no announcement made here as to the nature of the charges which may be preferred. It was learned, however, that charges had been filed with the customs bureau that the patrolmen under suspicion had appropriated confiscated liquor to their own use.

In Washington, it was said that the basis for the arrests will be related by the United States district attorney here as soon as all the named in the charges are in arrest.

previous investigation resulted in the arrest of 23 patrolmen and bootleggers. Most of those arrested are now serving prison sentences.

Results Are Secret
Customs officials here refused to divulge the results of the present investigation. It was recalled, however, that an incident was reported in recent weeks in which two patrolmen had attempted to make away with a quantity of confiscated beer.

Others purported to see a connection between the investigation and the recent rescinding of the licenses of two Ontario breweries for violating the Ontario liquor control act by selling beer to unauthorized persons. The purchasers, it was alleged, intend to smuggle the beer into the United States.

One individual, a court official, confesses that he has regularly taken bribes from lawyers representing miserable women accused of vice. The women, acquitted, paid their lawyers well. At least one magistrate made a specialty of having such cases brought to his court and doubtless got his share.

Lawyers, plenty of them "sworn officers of the court" were engaged in bribery as a profession, backed with blackmail of unfortunate women as a source of profit.

President Hoover does not approve a department of justice campaign to discourage local racketeering. For the government to interfere is "a reflection on the sovereignty and stamina of state governments."

That is true, but when state governments and great cities prove that they have neither "sovereignty nor stamina" somebody must do something.

Heart, lungs are all awaiting scientific examination. The find will add an important chapter to man's knowledge of things as they once were.

Professor Flugel, of the London university says, "The world is approaching nudism."
He believes that men are getting tired of wearing clothes, will soon shed them and women will lead the way. In this country they have the way, part way.

As a scientist, Professor Flugel predicts that women will force the human race to go back to absolute nakedness. But it can't go back to anything of the kind. If the race had ever been absolutely naked, it would not have survived.

It used to be covered with hair, generally red, in the north, and very thick, reaching from the forehead to the toes. That got wet, and couldn't be taken off to dry. Intelligence suggested clothes instead, and hair gradually disappeared as clothes were worn. The more hair, the less civilized.

The professor is mistaken in his idea that clothing is "an episode in the history of humanity." Clothing is a part of comfort and common sense, also a part of decency, and decency will last.

In addition, nothing on earth, except a lot of worms in a little boy's fishing can, could be uglier than a lot of men and women naked. They would look and be so silly that they could not think.

For millions of years nature worked in Africa, making the skin of men black and tightly curling their hair to counteract the deadly tropical sun. Without the blackness and curliness men could not have survived.

A little while ago in St. Louis, Mrs. Walker, a widow, negro, who took in washing to support her little girl, had an idea. She invented something to "take the kinks out of hair too tightly curled." She is dead, her daughter lives in Paris, an auctioneer is selling the contents of her house that cost more than a half a million dollars.

POCAHONTAS, Va.—Edward Holland, 101-year-old Negro, is dead here, after having outlived his wife and 18 children. He had lived in Pocahontas for 52 years, during which he was proprietor of the Holland House, a Negro hotel. He was a slave prior to the War Between the States.

HEALTH

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland

Skin Complaints
One of youth's greatest blessings is a clear, clean skin. My heart goes out to boys and girls, young men and women, who have pimples, red patches and unattractive complexion.

The most common skin complaints is known as acne. This takes several forms — blackheads, bumps, pimples, yellow capped pimples, etc. The face, back and upper part of the chest, are favorite places of attack.

One sad thing about the ailment is that it may leave pits and scars. While in most instances it is a mere passing disfigurement, an aggravated case may permanently damage and mar the face.

Many a girl, with really perfect features, has been made unhappy for life, first by the acute stages of the trouble, and then by the permanent scars. It is to avoid all this that I am writing today.

By the way, if what I say is not entirely clear to you, or you feel your trouble is not exactly what I am describing today, don't hesitate to write me. The editor of this paper will send me your letter, and I shall be only too pleased to answer your question. If I can make life happier for a young person—or an old one—that adds to my joy.

Among the fundamental causes of acne are four outstanding factors. In girls the possibility of some disturbance of the pelvic organs must be considered. Digestive disturbances, due, perhaps, to wrong eating, are quite commonly observed in all skin troubles.

The presence of some "focal infection," in teeth or tonsils is another factor for great importance. Lastly, improper cleansing of the skin is a thing that must never be overlooked as a cause.

Since space does not permit full discussion today of all these matters, I shall speak of but one, the last one. I do so because I am more and more impressed that the average person really neglects the skin.

We hurry through life, and, because we think we have no time for this and that duty, we skimp in many things. One of these oversights relates to the skin. You will, perhaps, be shocked to be told this, but, perhaps it applies to you.

Soap and water, a wash-cloth and "elbow grease" must be abundantly applied to the face if it is to be kept really clean. It is not enough to wash the face once a day, particularly if the skin is inclined to "break out." Several scrubbings, especially the morning and night bathtings, must be really vigorous ones.

If a girl uses powder and rouge she should never go to bed without getting off every bit of foreign substance. After repeated applications of soap and water, she may then apply a bit of cold cream, if she wishes. But, first, make sure the skin is perfectly clean.

I shall tell you more about the skin very soon.

Answers to Health Queries

B. R. Q.—Will you give me some information about chewing gum? Is it harmful or injurious in any way?

A.—If chewed after meals it sometimes helps to aid digestion. It should not be chewed at other times, however.

S. C. Q.—What harm, if any, can be done by sun blistering the stomach or abdomen.

A.—Burns are always dangerous to kidneys if the trouble is extensive and they might become infected, to say nothing of the discomfort caused by blistering this delicate skin.

Miss K. E. S. Q.—What is the cause of canker sores?

A.—Canker sores usually indicate an acid in the system. The diet should be corrected.

R. E. McK. Q.—What causes a sinus infection and how can it be definitely cleared up?

A.—In most cases the trouble is due to a catarrhal infection. This should be definitely located and treated first of all. Clear up the underlying disturbance.

EXPLORER DIES AT AGE OF 70

Captain Otto Sverdrup Succumbs At Home In Oslo, Norway

(By Associated Press)
OSLO, NORWAY, Nov. 26.—Otto Sverdrup, 70 years old, Polar explorer, died last night.

Captain Sverdrup in his lifetime gained a reputation as one of the foremost polar explorers. He spent a number of winters above the Arctic circle, at various times conducting expeditions to Franz Joseph Land, along the Northern Siberian coast, and elsewhere in the Arctic. He was headed expeditions to search for lost Russian exploring parties, once in 1914 aboard the ship Thetis, which was forced to spend the winter north of Siberia, ice-bound, and in 1920 to the Kara sea to seek a Russian party ice-bound in the steamer Salovic.

Growing old, he gave his expert advice to rescue parties arranged the search for lost members of the Noble expedition and for Roald Amundsen, his friend of long standing, who was lost off Tromsøe in a futile attempt to aid General Noble.

The Stars Say —

For Thursday, November 27

A day of pleasure, merriment, extravagance and indulgence is read from the dominant positions of the planets, both mutually and by lunar transit. While the keynote is one of festivity and heightened holiday spirit, yet there is need for discreet personal behavior and definite restraint in the matter of self-indulgence. Friction and inharmonious might easily arise in social, domestic or romantic associations.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of pronounced proclivity and incentive to extravagance and self-indulgence, with possibly personal affairs interfering and jeopardizing the business interests. A child born on this day should be kindly, popular, socially active and ambitious.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass.—Members of the class of 1905 of Harvard Law School are now earning an average of $27,732 a year each, according to a survey by Secretary L. H. Leitch, worth of the class.

NEW YORK Day by Day by O.O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—Those thatching gray about the temples and collecting crow's feet around the eyes are tickled over the sudden return to the typewriter of that strapping, white-haired author of their youth—Burt L. Standish. Under this pseudonym he turned out the five cent Frank Merriwells.

In real life he is Gil Patten, from up Banger way, a two-listed writing man whose total output exceeds that of any living writer. He is a typical drawing-voiced down Easterner who inspired thousands of boys to become collectors of his Tip Top Library at the cross roads.

Years after Frank Merriwell was only a memory I used to play pool with a crowd which included the late Clare Briggs, the late William Johnston, Ewing Galloway, H. T. Webster, Ray Rohn and Herb Rohn. We gathered at an uptown hotel.

Into the game one Saturday afternoon came a fellow they called "Gil." We were casually introduced and as he was about to make a shot someone nudged and whispered: "That's the bird who used to write the Frank Merriwells." I don't recall receiving a bigger thrill.

I cornered him and told of my youthful admiration and he seemed actually surprised anyone had remembered him. Frank Merriwell was dropped because Author Patten had carried him all through Yale and to a happy marriage. Too the movie pictures came along with a new sort of wallop.

But the pendulum swings back. Patten believed there was a place for a dime weekly fitting into the pocket. The Swift Story Magazine Co. was incorporated as a result. The newer hero, modernized, is known as "Bob Hunter or The Boss of the Run Runners."

Pattern at the peak of the Merriwell craze never made more than $100 a week, although that was big reward in Gay Ninety days. It is estimated during his productive years he turned out 40,000,000 words with a lead pencil.

The 5 and 10's now sponsor a group of dime monthly magazines sold only on their news stands. Two already near the million circulation mark. A chain of cigar stores fosters a full length 50 cent novel and two five cent weeklies for sophisticates are on the grill.

Hack writers, turning out pot boilers, used to live precariously in cobwebby Village attics, working when rent was over-due and idling rest of the time in the candle-lit coffee parlors and waffle shops. With the movies, the hack writer became almost extinct, but due to economic conditions he faces a rosate future.

On a stretch of Riverside Drive elderly twin brothers come to a certain bench daily at sun-down, light pipes and sit in studied contemplation never exchanging a word. At the precise minute nightly they walk away together. "Odd duffers" commented a corner cop. Odd doubtless in this neck of the woods because they mind their own business.

To warm up my workshop I closed doors leading into it. For an hour the two dogs have had their noses glued to the sill crack, thinking they are missing something beyond. That's how nosy they are.

And to fill off time waiting a little heat I picked up one of those futuristic books with angular drawings which began: "If you can think of space when it was apparently empty you were there." No wonder people ache for Frank Merriwell literature again. At least it didn't give you the ipsiliphis.

In the dining room of a Cincinnati boarding house years ago a fellow diner was a self-effacing and singularly courteous gentleman—the last person one would imagine interested in boxing, horse racing and other sports. Yet it was Frank J. Bruen, who became for a time manager of Madison Square Garden and is the man many believe will succeed to the place held by Tex Rickard in promoting big sporting events.

The painted cheeks and mascara dripping eyelashes of a 34th Street department store floorwalker at 11:45 a. m. were too much. At 1:30 a. m. I still cannot remember what I wanted to ask him.

Report Lower Prices

And even though the financial news of the day tells of less money in circulation and less buying going on, the same columns report lower prices on many of life's necessities.

Here in Washington Thanksgiving is a brilliant day, topped off by a fashionable ball attended by many of the Republic's leaders.

But President Hoover, both by precedent and personal inclination, will not attend that ball. Thanksgiving day for him will be a quiet one, spent at the White House fire-side with his family and friends—an observance simple and in keeping with that of the American home.

Upset Not Serious If Bowels Get This Help

When you're out-of-sorts, head-achy, dizzy, bilious, with coated tongue, bad breath, no appetite or energy—don't worry. It's probably constipation.

Take a candy Cascaret tonight and see how quickly your trouble clears up. No more headache; no gas on stomach or bowels. Appetite improves; digestion is encouraged. MARION, Nov. 26.—Elopement of Mrs. Sarah A. Fullilove, 60, well-to-do Marion widow, and Don Lewis, 32, city bus driver, to Monroe, Mich., where they were secretly married Saturday, became known today when the couple verified rumors started by one of Lewis' fellow bus drivers. He suspected that wedding plans were afoot when Lewis took Saturday off from his work.

The bride said that their only reason for the secret wedding was expected opposition to the match on the part of relatives. Mrs. Lewis, widow of a former McGuffey, O., merchant, is the owner of large real estate holdings in Marion.

"WET" LEADERS SEE NO CHANGE IN LIQUOR LAW

Don't Expect Next Congress To Be Able To Do Much

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—In spite of all the flurry and discussion over prohibition in congressional circles, a number of wet leaders are convinced there is no chance of altering dry laws at the coming session.

Some of them are organizing, however, for a drive to modify the Volstead act when the new congress comes in—some time after next March 4.

Predicts Congress Vote
Senator Tydings, Democrat, Maryland, who has opposed prohibition, predicted today votes would be taken on modification proposals in the next congress. On one point, however, he intends to continue his anti-prohibition drive this session. That is the elimination of any punishing denaturants from industrial alcohol.

Utterances of leaders in both Republican and Democratic parties meanwhile displayed the widening spaces between wets and dries in their respective ranks.

Advocates Referendum
Senator Watson of Indiana, Republican leader, yesterday advocated a referendum to determine popular sentiment, although maintaining his belief the country still is for prohibition. Senator Fess of Ohio, now Republican national chairman, has spoken emphatically for no let up in the dry position.

Senator Robinson of Arkansas, leader of the Democrats and a presidential possibility, predicted his party would not endorse repeal in 1932. However, Bernard M. Baruch, prominent Democratic New Yorker, came from a party conference with word that the north and east were "certainly against the Eighteenth Amendment."

MARKETS

STOCKS HEAVY, TRADING LIGHT

Partial Recovery Made By Few Issues, But Rally Is Feeble

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—Stocks were heavy in colorless trading during the earlier hours of today's market. Partial recovery was made from declines of a point or so in leading industrials and utilities, but the rally was feeble.

U. S. Steel was well supported on a large practical recession and moved slightly above yesterday's close. Rails were soft, particularly Union Pacific, off 4, and Missouri Kansas Texas preferred and Nickel Plate, off 3 each. Atchafon, New York Central, Southern Railway and Erie lost 1 to 1 1/2. Baltimore & Ohio was an exception, rallying a point. A few other issues, including Sears Roebuck, also moved against the trend. Call money renewed at 2 per cent.

about fifteen miles long and five to ten miles wide.

Nigayama Wiped Out
The village of Nigayama was wiped out, 69 persons being killed there. Nagoka, a hot springs resort, also was destroyed, 22 having perished there. A group of small villages in the southern part of the stricken area reported 80 dead.

The larger towns on the northern edge of the quake belt escaped with relatively less damage. Mishima reported four deaths. Numazu one and Atami three. Fires, however, added to the destruction in these towns but they were controlled.

A portion of this stricken area also suffered heavily in the earthquake of 1923, notably Atami, Hakone and Ito.

Definite news from Shimoda, at the southern tip of Izu peninsula, was lacking but a naval plane flying over the town reported no serious damage had been observed.

Relief Units Organized
Troops from Mishima and Shizuoka entered the stricken region to maintain order and relieve suffering. Newspapers organized relief units to aid the Red Cross and the military, while the home ministry sent experts to ward off disease.

Scores of injured were taken to the hospital at Mishima, which escaped serious damage. A party of Scientists from Tokyo central observatory went to the quake belt and issued warnings that further seismic activity was likely there.

Most of the inhabitants, even those possessing houses, took to the open, fearing further shocks.

TWO THEATERS HIT BY BOMBS

Labor Controversy Believed Responsible For Akron Dynamiting

(By Associated Press)
AKRON, Nov. 26.—Two Akron motion picture theaters were dynamited early today and although heavy damage was done no one was injured. Police said they believed the bombing was connected with a labor controversy.

The damaged theaters are the Spicer and the Peoples, several miles apart. A bomb on the roof of the Spicer tore a hole through the ceiling and showered debris inside the hall. At the Peoples, the explosion was in the front lobby. Robert Francis, a watchman, escaped injuries because he was at the rear of the building.

The lobby of the Peoples theater was damaged and windows were blown out of several other buildings in the vicinity.

EDISON JOINS WITH AVIATION IN FOG BATTLE

Thinks Solution To Problem Much Simpler Than It Appears

(By Associated Press)
WEST ORANGE, N. J., Nov. 26.—Thomas A. Edison is trying to bring aviation out of the fog. He has been experimenting with rockets to circumvent flying's greatest enemy. His rockets would give off light by night and a black smoke by day to locate airports and determine the depth of the fog.

Believes Problem Simple
"It seems to me that aviation can not see the mountain for the mole hill," he remarked in stating his belief that the solution of the problem was much simpler than it appeared.

"Radio, at the present time, is a bit too delicate for fog work," he said in disapproval of the radio beacon for blind flying. "I personally prefer to work up something much more simple, involving, perhaps, sight or sound." Edison disclosed his experiments in a talk with Richard Aldworth, director of the Newark airport.

Among other things, the inventor asked—what color are various degrees of fog? How soon before you emerge from the fog does the color lighten? How does it look from the top? If you know the depth of the fog can you land safely?

Might Create Sound
On the subject of sound as a guide to blind flying, Aldworth said the drone of the motor would drown out such signals. "On the contrary," replied Edison, "a distinctive sound could be created which would cut through the sound of the motor and reach the aviator."

GRANGERS ASK NEW AUTO LAW

Pomona Unit Suggests Amendment Relieving Driver of Responsibility to Passengers

Columbiana county Pomona grangers would have the automobile traffic law so amended that drivers would not be responsible for passengers officers announced today, have passed this resolution:

"We the members of Columbiana county Pomona grange insist that our representative be instructed to have the law so amended in regard to automobile traffic, that the drivers cannot be held responsible for persons riding with them in case of accident, unless the driver is criminally negligent."

Pomona in another resolution renewed its former resolutions "demanding some form of rural police to safeguard the farmer's property and to make travel less hazardous on the public roads."

This resolution was also passed by the General assembly of Ohio to consider the injustice of our present laws to those who are in debt on their homes."

Plaintiff Winner In Damage Action

When the defense closed its testimony, a motion for a directed verdict was sustained by Judge W. S. Slocum in the $10,000 damage action filed by Clyde L. Crawford against Ida Bunting Rainey, Wellsville. The usual exceptions were entered on the record, and then a jury returned a verdict in favor of the defendant. This case had been pending in common pleas since Jan. 13, 1927.

A jury was waived and there was a trial to the court. Judge Slocum Mary Chapman against the City of East Liverpool, and there was a trial to the court. Judge Slocum then entered a judgment in favor of the plaintiff for $350 and costs. The plaintiff sued to recover $1,282.40 as damage she sustained when water entered her home in East Liverpool addition and damaged household goods.

Dolores Del Rio Is Seriously Ill

Dr. Fishbaugh said he and Dr. Arthur B. Cecil would perform a delicate kidney operation upon the actress. Mrs. Del Rio was taken to the hospital yesterday. Her illness dates back to shortly after her marriage at Santa Barbara to Frederick Gibbons, film art director, when illness compelled her to discontinue work.

Dollars on Job
The "Buy Now" campaign is on and what a chance not only to get exceptional value for your dollar, but look at the money that goes into circulation to make conditions better for all.

"The old dollars seem to be getting back on the job, and they certainly are the spark plug that can inject more life into every line of business."

"No one has ever for a second doubted the fundamental strength of our great American business structure. And now when an expression of that confidence is all that is needed to swing the barometer back again to normalcy, let us supply those needs we have been delaying, and not only justify ourselves as American citizens but avail ourselves of the amazingly low prices which this extreme swing of the pendulum has put at our command."

INSTALL TWO NEW TURBINES

Power Plant Officials Announce Completion Of $326,000 Project: Three Units Available

ALLIANCE, Nov. 26.—A $326,000 project started 18 months ago which greatly increases the capacity of the Lake Park power house just east of Alliance, is nearing completion, according to officials of the Alliance Power company.

A 7500 kilowatt turbine has just completed a two weeks' continuous test run, and according to officials, has performed perfectly. The two other generators, one rated at 5,000 kilowatts and the other at 3,000 kilowatts, will be used as emergency units.

BANDITS RAID SOCIETY PARTY; SHOOT BROKER

Son Of Multimillionaire Slain When He Laughs At Gunmen

(By International News Service)
CHICAGO, Nov. 26.—Five masked bandits invaded the fashionable Lake avenue tavern today and during the course of their robbery shot and killed Edwin Russell Thompson, prominent broker and son of Charles S. Thompson, multimillionaire traction magnate.

Laughs At Order
Young Thompson, a leader in society circles here, was slow to obey the commands of the gang and laughed when the leader ordered him to turn around.

Enraged, the gunman fired a sawed-off shotgun point blank at Thompson's chest. Paying no further attention to the prostrate broker, the gang remained for 10 minutes, forcing Frank Engel, the proprietor, to open the safe, which yielded only $125. Several patrons were relieved of their valuables.

Wife In Hospital
Thompson, whose wife is at Evanston hospital awaiting the birth of their first child, had gone to the tavern to while away a nervous hour or two in a chat with the proprietor, a friend of his. Mrs. Thompson was not told of the tragedy.

The victim's father hurried to the scene and organized a hunt for the slayers in conjunction with the Glenview police.

FAMILY HEADS ARE PREFERRED BY EMPLOYERS

They Come First When Cleveland Steel Firms
Have Jobs

(By Associated Press)
CLEVELAND, Nov. 26.—Stagger systems of employment are beginning to receive a general application among Cleveland's larger industrial plant as an important part of the program here to carry thousands of families safely through the business depression.

This was revealed by industrial leaders today as they planned to meet next week with City Manager Daniel E. Morgan's unemployment committee for the application of further relief.

Probably the most nearly unique of the various systems is that applied at the Otis Steel company, and the Midland Steel Products Company, Inc.

Married Men Preferred
Married men with children are given a preferred rating, according to the plan as explained by Elroy J. Kulas, president of the two companies and representative from Ohio and the Cleveland district on President Hoover's committee on business stabilization.

A man without children, whose wife is ill, rates next, and a married man without children, third. Bachelors are at the bottom of the list.

Under this system either the working day or the working week may be shortened. It all depends upon the job, Kulas said.

General application of this system would go far to solve the unemployment problem.

Another notable system of staggering hours is applied by the Willard Storage Battery company, which, with the shortening of the working day and week has been able to keep 100 per cent of its employees on the job, officials of that company announced.

Unemployment Figures
Employment of regular forces at the principal factories is about 20 per cent below the high record of last year, the chamber of commerce estimated in its monthly figure. This is about 10 per cent below the record of 1928.

Employment is on a basis greater than that of 1924, and nearly equal to that of 1921, and 22, figures compiled by the federal-state-city public employment service show.

Morrow Censors Children's Book Written By Wife

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK.—From Mrs. Dwight W. Morrow has come news that her husband, when ambassador to Mexico, censored a book of hers. She wrote "The Painted Pig," a children's story. It contained the sentence, "generals are brittle and easily broken." The ambassador scrutinized the text carefully. Before "generals" he inserted the word "glass" to make it obvious that the reference was to toy generals.

Liberty Under Bond
OF $1,000

(By Associated Press)
LOS ANGELES, Nov. 26.—Daisy Devoe, whose work as a hair dresser two years ago so pleased Clara Bow that the flaming haired screen actress employed her as confidential secretary, was at liberty today under a $1,000 bond, charged by the grand jury on 37 counts of grand theft from her former employer.

Alleges Shortages
Investigation which resulted in the indictment yesterday was begun two weeks ago, shortly after Miss Bow returned from New York and discharged Miss Devoe, alleging she discovered shortages in her accounts.

The indictment charged Miss Devoe, who had access to the actress' bank account, issued unauthorized checks totaling $16,000. Both Miss Bow and Miss Devoe were witnesses before the grand jury.

Comments on "Savings"
Following Miss Devoe's dismissal which at first was ascribed to personal differences, she commented freely on her business relations with the actress. She asserted she had saved Miss Bow's money, sometimes against the actress' will. She claimed to have originated the idea of stopping payment upon more than $12,000 in checks Miss Bow was alleged to have given a Nevada gambling house in payment for an evening's "entertainment."

COUNTY LISTS 3 FATALITIES IN INDUSTRIES

Report Covers Two-Month
Period; Safety Congress
In Columbus

A total of 197 accidents, resulting in one death, occurred in Columbiana county during October, the Ohio Industrial commission stated in its monthly report today.

Forty-five workers injured in the county lost more than seven days time as result of injuries, total time lost to workers from casualties amounting to 7,753 days. In September the county had 187 accidents including two fatalities and a time loss of 13,163 days.

Ohio industrial workers reported 194 fatal and 18,425 non-fatal accidents in October, which is 14 more fatal and 935 more non-fatal accidents than were reported in the preceding month. The time loss as the result of accidents was 879,770 days.

Among the outstanding features of the safety program planned for 1931 by the industrial commission and the division of safety and hygiene, according to a statement by Supt. Thos. P. Kearns of the latter division, are a general safety campaign in Cleveland industries and a state-wide effort for a reduction of accidents in the construction industry, in addition to a number of group and community campaigns in various sections of the state.

Superintendent Kearns also announces that April 21, 22 and 23, 1931 are the dates selected for the fourth annual session of the All-Ohio Safety Congress, which will be held in Columbus as heretofore.

Vol. IV Wednesday, November 26, 1930 Number 48
Published in the Interests of the People of Salem and Vicinity by R. J. Burns Hdw. Co., "Russ" Burns, Editor

The old bus starts harder these mornings, doesn't it? If you are having any trouble cooking the Thanksgiving dinner, you had better resolve to have a new Tappan gas range set in before Christmas. They certainly are the last word in kitchen equipment.

You ought to see Mrs. Green's chintz-covered bed. "Can't she get rid of them things?"

There's always somebody who knows what he'd do if he were in your place! Just dug into a new stock of coal hods, fire screens, radiator shields and fireside screens. If you need any, come in.

Driving out toward Canton the other night a friend of ours saw a car along the roadside. "Need any help?" he called. "Heck, no," came a voice from the back seat, "drive on!"

Every Thanksgiving we see big possibilities in the turkey-raising business.

"WHAT A WIDOW"
At The Grand

Gloria Swanson—the emotional actress—has become again Gloria Swanson, comedienne.

From her highly dramatic mother role in "The Trespasser," she has turned to the field of comedy to achieve another triumph as the dashing madcap referred to in the title of "What a Widow!", now playing at the Grand Theatre.

The freshness of viewpoint afforded picture fans by the constant striving for originality is very apparent.

From beginning to end the picture is essentially modern. The story treatment follows new lines. The sets reveal a development of the modernistic influence far in advance of current design. Miss Swanson's clothes incorporate a sufficient number of fads and fancies to keep feminine fans alert every moment she is on the screen.

Miss Swanson again gives evidence of her singing talent with her interpretation of three numbers written especially for her by Vincent Youmans, the composer. Miss Swanson's supporting cast is headed by Owen Moore, Margaret Livingston and Lew Cody.

"THE STORM"
At The State

Lupe Velez has the best role of her career in "The Storm" now playing at the State Theatre.

The picture deals with the problem of the eternal triangle enacted in a snowbound cabin in the wilds of western Canada. Inside the cabin rages the storm of love and passion, outside is the rage of the elements.

Through force of circumstances, two men, one a stalwart son of the backwoods, the other a polished product of the cities, are imprisoned with a beautiful French-Canadian girl in the snow-bound cabin. Both desire her, each in his own way. How the problem is solved makes one of the most dramatic pictures that has ever come to the screen.

The human situation in "The Storm" alone would furnish drama and suspense enough for any picture. Added to this, however, are natural thrills of a surpassing nature.

Salem-Alliance Teams Evenly Matched For Turkey Day Battle

THE DAY In Sports

SALEM HIGH FAVORED ALLIANCE CONFIDENT

Breaks Will Play Main Role In Grid Classic; Large Crowd Expected

Salem High will probably win its ninth game of the 1930 season Thursday afternoon and advance into a tie with Massillon High's grid eleven for the Northeastern Ohio football championship. The victory, if this prediction is correct, will come over Alliance High in the 30th football game played between the two schools since 1902, at Mount Union stadium at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow.

But the Stonemen will have to put up a battle for victory, probably will be forced to display their strongest offensive attack and defensive strength of the season, for Alliance has a powerful aggregation. A comparison of scores, a matter that gives fans lots of fun but doesn't mean a thing anymore as far as pre-game dope is concerned, favors neither aggregation and on the basis of performance of the rival aggregations during the season, it looks like a toss-up.

Figuring a little bit, it is found that the Red and Black should pull through victorious. Its four half-carriers, Bill Smith, Ed Beck, John French and Jack Carpenter, are superior to the Stark county quartet, and on the line, except for a big weight advantage that may not mean so much, Salem is just as good as the opposition. The one big claim Alliance has to its claims of victories beforehand came in its 7-3 win over Canton McKinley, which to many is still considered as one of the season's biggest upsets.

Alliance fans, visiting Salem with heavily-filled pocketbooks, are supposed to be giving odds on their own team. Salem fans, those that are inclined to wager a bit themselves, in turn visit Alliance and have backed the Red and Black without a demand for odds. Fans of both cities are freely predicting victory.

The game will start at 2:30 with Davey M. Williams, Girard, A. C. Michaels of Akron, and O. S. Ellis of Youngstown as officials. Tickets will be offered for sale in Salem for the last time tonight, the Lease Drug store, which is handling the duets, being closed Turkey Day. Harold Williams, Salem faculty manager, requested that as many as possible of the Salem fans secure tickets today in order that they will not be forced to stand in the at the stadium.

Every detail of the game will be carried out identically with games of other years. Ralph S. Coppock, Alliance faculty manager said in a letter today. Proceeds above expenses, will be shared between the two schools. A section of the uncovered bleacher stands will be reserved for the Salem cheering section while other Salem fans will have their choice of a special section in the covered bleachers and one in the uncovered section.

H. L. Stark, Alliance police chief, addresses the following greeting to Salem football fans: "I, as chief of police of Alliance, want to extend a hearty welcome to all Salem football fans who will attend the annual Salem-Alliance game at Alliance Thursday.

"The Alliance police department will extend all courtesies possible and will see that there is parking space for everybody. Arrangements have been made with Police Chief T. W. Thompson to have Salem police assist us in keeping order and members of your force will work with us and will be stationed with Salem fans.

"Hoping that that Salem team will have its usual large following and, that the best team wins."

H. L. STARK.

READ THE WANT COLUMN

One of the greatest football games in the history of gridiron rivalry between Salem and Alliance High teams will be fought when the two powerful aggregations collide in their 30th contest at Mount Union stadium, Alliance, at 2:30 p. m. Thursday.

Matched as evenly in all-around strength as any two scholastic teams that ever trod on the same gridiron, neither eleven rates the edge in pre-game dope. Both have lost only one game out of ten already played this season while a comparison of scores in which the rivals opposed mutual opponents doesn't throw any light on the probable outcome of the battle.

Alliance school officials earlier this week predicted an attendance of more than 5,000 fans but indications today were that the crowd will approximate 7,000. There were approximately 5,500 fans at the 1929 classic, a game which resulted in a 7-0 triumph for the Red and Black at Reilly athletic stadium.

The weather to a certain extent, will be a determining factor in the size of the audience but then there won't be many, who intend to see the game, that will stay away if it rains, snows or hails. A blanket of snow almost six inches deep covered Reilly gridiron last season and not a fan of the 5,500 appeared aware of that fact. Cold is never felt at good football games.

Salem and Alliance teams always rate even in their annual battle despite of what has gone on before. There are few of the 29 games that have been played in the past 27 seasons that have resulted in one-sided victories for either aggregation and records show that more than a few times, when one or the other was the favorite on basis of paper statistics, the dope went wrong and the underdog registered decisive victories.

Speed Versus Weight
While the teams are evenly matched in all-around strength it will be a battle between speed and weight. Usually the former is the predominating element in the winning of gridiron verdicts but melting snows are expected to give the heavier team the advantage tomorrow. The weight handicap will be held against the Stonemen who will step into the greensward the lighter team at an average of about 15 pounds per player.

The Red and Black has all season depended on a fast-forming offensive with end runs and off-tackle plays resulting in the majority of its gains or touchdowns runs. Alliance, with its giant linemen and only fairly fast ball-carrying quartet, has never flashed into the spotlight as an aggregation forced to depend on speed. More so, it has a battering-ram type of eleven that pushes its way through the opposing line with its bulky and well-built fullback, Bill Windland tearing through the forwards with the hogshide.

Alliance Plans At Attack
Forward passes, an attack which netted Alliance its 7-3 verdict over Canton McKinley, a team which humiliated Salem, 26-9, are expected to appear in a leading role in Alliance's offense. Windland is generally in the receiving end with Quarterback Quick doing the hurling.

Where Ed Beck has been Salem's great offensive threat all season and has been stopped in only one game—that with New Philadelphia—Coach Floyd Stone will divide the ball-carrying burden between each of the Salem backfield stars. Forward passing, never one of Salem's big assets, isn't slated for any great part in the Quakers' attack.

When two teams are as evenly matched as the aggregations which will clash at Alliance, breaks are certain to appear as one of the deciding factors in the result.

Last year Dame Fortune favored neither team to any great extent and breaks that occurred went for naught but in past seasons the decision has rested many times on the ability of either team to take advantage of those offered. Alliance won in just such fashion in 1928—by a 2-0 score—when the Red and Black outplayed its opponents all the way but still lost.

Have Strongest Lineup
Salem will have its strongest lineup available but so will Alliance. The two starting teams will probably lineup as follows:

Twelve Contests Billed In East

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—An even dozen games comprise the eastern football slate for tomorrow—Thanksgiving day—but only four of them involve major elevens.

Heading the list by right of age will be the 37th clash at Philadelphia between Pennsylvania and Cornell. Penn. because of the Indian sign it has had on Cornell in recent years, perhaps will be a slight favorite but the Big Red eleven from Ithaca is conceded a good chance to upset the Quakers.

Ranking not far behind this game will be the duels of Columbia and Syracuse at New York; Brown and Colgate at Providence; and Pitt and Penn State at Pittsburgh.

Word that Ralph Hewitt probably will not get into the Columbia lineup except in an emergency has made Syracuse a favorite over the Lions. Colgate seems to have an edge on Brown as does Pitt on Penn State.

Albie Booth Will Head Yale In 1931

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Nov. 26.—For the first time in five years, Yale will have a back as football captain next season. Albert J. Booth, Jr., or Albie, as he's known to football fans, was elected as 1931 captain last night.

Albie is a quarterback and his selection breaks a tradition that line men shall be picked to captain Yale teams. The last backfield man to break the charm was P. W. Bunnell, in 1926.

Charles Meisinger, of Penn State, was third in the championship event.

CLEVELAND—Superintendent of Collection Seth Nickens has complained to the service director's department that farmers are raiding hotels and apartment garbage pails to obtain food for their hogs. The practice, which Nickens blames on the drought and resultant shortage in pasture, deprived official collectors of 2,000,000 pounds of garbage during the first two weeks of November.

Six Contests Will Wind Up Ohio State Football Season

By LATHROP MACK (Associated Press Sports Writer)
COLUMBUS, Nov. 26.—The Thanksgiving turkey will taste better to winners and taste like crow to the losers of the six football games which wind up the Buckeye season tomorrow.

It is an interesting slate, although numerically small, which ends the long gridiron campaign for Ohio's 38 college teams.

Old Rivals Clash
Wittenberg and Dayton, intermittent rivals since 1897, battle at Dayton. The two teams look like opposite goalposts, so close do they appear to be in advance. Case and Western Reserve, two weak teams, always come to their final game on even terms, no matter what has gone before. The Miami-Cincinnati game in Cincinnati will be for third place in the Buckeye conference while Mount Union and Akron are two of the three strongest teams in the northeast.

In the remaining games Xavier meets the Haskell Indians and Wilberforce entertains West Virginia Institute in a game which is usually played in Columbus or Cleveland.

Dayton has won three games, lost three and tied two this year. Wittenberg has won three, lost two and tied three. Dayton has scored 61 points to 34 for its opponents. Wittenberg 61 to 32 for its opponents.

Teams Even In Series
In their seven game series to date the teams are just as close.

Dayton has won three games, Wittenberg four. Wittenberg has scored 136 points to Dayton's 46, chiefly because of a 67 to 0 victory in 1907. The teams played in 1897, 1899, 1907, 1912, 1913, 1927 and 1929. Wittenberg won last year, 8 to 0, and Dayton beat the Buckeye conference champions in 1927. The 1930 result is a toss-up.

Akron, with only one defeat against it, and that by Heidelberg, co-champions of the state, plays Mount Union, one of the better Ohio conference teams and should win. The Zippers have a fine team.

Case Favored
Western Reserve, demoralized by seven consecutive defeats by lopsided scores, may gather itself together in time to take Case, but it is doubtful. Three changes in coaches have not helped Reserve's morale.
Miami should walk over Cincinnati, but probably won't as three stars backs are out with injuries. The Oxford team will be satisfied with a victory in Fee Simple. Xavier has small chance against the Indians.

Fine Machine Work Represented In Automobile Construction

Old Parts Salvaged By Salem Concern Used To Good Advantage

Automobiles represent some of the finest kind of machine work. In the great factories metallurgists spend years in improving the quality of the metal used, engineers spend years in improving the form of the simple gear and expert shopmen work for production that should outwear any other class of machinery.

It is doubtful whether drivers get full use out of an automobile. Not being a mechanic himself, a motorist, when trouble develops, is looking for a trade-in. That course may be wise in instances where money is no object. It is fine to have a brand new car every year, but a large part of the population cannot well afford such luxury. To them the maintenance of the car they have is the question.

New Concerns Organized

Because machinery of this kind does not wear out, concerns have grown up in the country roundabout that buy cars, take them apart, and sell the parts.

A man may through accident break a part in an otherwise good auto, or through some unfortunate adjustment one part may be worn down beyond service. His neighbor, with just the same kind of a car, may have the same experience, except that the part he breaks or that wears down may be another part. It is obvious that in the two machines are the makings of a perfectly good one.

It is also obvious that if a driver can secure a part of a machine that is not worn from auto wreckers he can rehabilitate his car at a fraction of the cost of new parts. Here is where the concerns like the Axelrod Auto Wrecking company prove their value. They buy old machines and wrecked cars. They examine the parts and those that show the effect of wear, go to the junkman. Others go on sale.

Five big yards and a central warehouse give the Axelrod concern unusual facilities. It does not matter much what the name of the car you drive is, in all probability this firm will have its parts. Used tires with thousands of miles of wear in them, used batteries that have a year or so of usefulness in reserve, radiators that are not even marred, seat cushions—a thousand different things—can be found at the yard at 511 East Pershing or in the warehouse of this company, and garage men and wise owners know this fact.

NEW RIEGEL—Frank L. Thel, farmer, came home from rabbit hunting to discover he had been shot. Opening up the front of his coat, a rain of shot fell upon the floor. Examination disclosed the jacket had been perforated in a score of places but the heavy cloth had protected his body.

OCRA COKE ISLAND, N. C.—A number of whales have been sighted off Ocraoke Island recently, fishermen have reported. One of the largest whales sighted was about 60 feet long.

Leetonia Man Has Exceptional Results In Growing Of Poultry

It has often been said that it pays to keep chickens, but it is not often that poultrymen keep records accurately enough to prove such a statement. A record covering a full season has been completed by N. G. Bauman of Leetonia which demonstrates clearly what can be expected from chickens if attention is paid to the fundamentals, having good chicks with which to start.

CONTRACTORS IN BUILDING WORK TO SAVE MONEY

Quality Of Man Awarded Contract Is Factor In Getting Results

Ever since men began contracting for work there has been occasion for misunderstanding. Specifications seek to covariate this in all kinds of work. In building the architect is made the judge usually of how the work is to be done, and he is supposed to supervise it in the owner's interest. But since most of the contracts for such work are awarded to the lowest bidder, the contractor who really is conscientious in his work is brought into direct competition on a price basis with the man who intends to skimp everything he does to the utmost allowable limit.

Owner Suffers

The owner suffers and the character and reputation of a contractor are shown to be of as much value as the few dollars that are to be saved in the first instance and paid later by depending on the lowest bidder. Contracting work is as though one orders a suit of clothes made up. He can entrust the job to a cheap workman, and find the suit a misfit and unsatisfactory, or he can go to a tailor of reputation, and with the same materials achieve a masterpiece. He may also adopt either one of these courses in building a house.

Nor does one save money always by using the low priced offer. In fact, there is a reasonable limit by which these things must be considered. Less than a fair price means either loss or poor work—and most contractors may be depended upon not to lose on a job.

Hans Well Qualified

M. L. Hans, contractor at 552 East Sixth street, is as well qualified as any man to do a low priced job. He has the best of labor saving machinery, the experience and knowledge to use it well, and he can buy materials as cheaply as the next man.

VARIOUS TYPES OF COMPOUNDS FOUND IN GAS

Gasoline is a complex compound of hydrocarbons. It varies greatly in its proportions and consequently in action and in the power that may be obtained from it. To fit it for use in your motor these variations must be studied and the various ingredients so compounded as to give you the best results.

In search for that which would best serve this city's motor car drivers, Sherris Super Service at 838 North Lincoln avenue, finally decided upon Freedom gasoline as being the best that could be obtained. The reasons for this choice are as follows:

Gasoline for motor uses should be so blended as to contain a proper proportion of quick firing atoms, that the car may start without trouble even in cold weather, but it must also contain a certain balance of slow firing qualities, that the power may be developed during the entire period of this firing, without those sharp explosions that cause the motor to knock. Internal combustion engines, to which class all automobile engines belong, operate by burning gasoline, not by exploding it. Too quick combustion does not generate full power and does cause knocks; too slow burning means less power and more carbon.

SKILL REQUIRED IN REPRODUCING FURNITURE WORK

Reproduction of some of the handsome antique pieces of furniture is a fine test of skill and taste. William Bodendorfer of the Bodendorfer Furniture company at 121 East State is a dealer in the art.

These pieces are so attractive, so artistic in lines and appropriateness, that many of the best homes have ordered reproductions of such pieces for their furniture so far as they could in furnishing the home. The reproductions, for practical utility, serve much better than the originals, and in the general effect are just as pleasing.

Bodendorfer can repair and reproduce antiques of all patterns, he can make duplicates of any you like, and he can build overfitted furniture to your order.

His store carries a fine assortment of new furniture, selected with the taste of a lover of good lines and fine finishes.

Correct Installation Of Furnace Important Factor

A furnace cannot be expected to heat any house satisfactorily unless it is installed correctly. A common mistake made in buying furnaces is to get them too small for the cubic contents of the house. The result is that the furnace is even moderately cold weather is forced to full capacity, quickly wearing it out and wasting fuel, and when extremely cold weather comes on the furnace is not capable of keeping the house warm.

Report Shows Results

Bauman fed Purina feeds exclusively. The following report demonstrates the results:

At the age of five months he housed his pullets averaging about four pounds. They had cost him exactly 91 cents each. This figure represents the cost of the chicks, feed, fuel and litter with the income from the broilers deducted. At six months of age 50 per cent of the pullets were laying. From the time the pullets were housed until Nov. 1 each had laid an average of 222 eggs or an average of 15 eggs a month.

These eggs were produced at a cost of 18¢ a dozen and for every hundred pounds of Purina chicken chowder (laying mash) that these chickens ate, they rolled out 426 eggs. His profit per hen over and above feed cost was $3.12 per hen.

Bauman Lands Service

Bauman says he learned a lot of things from this year's work. His figures have shown him that it pays to get good chicks at the start and that the cost of a hundred pounds of feed is not nearly as important as the net cost of housing a pullet or the cost of producing a dozen eggs. He says that in buying feed he is really buying eggs. The feed containing the most eggs per bag is the cheapest for him. Purina chicken chowder and Purina hen chow coupled with the service available with these feeds produces eggs at a low cost because a lot of eggs cost a little but a few eggs cost a lot.

Wall Paper, Paint Essential Factors In Beauty Of Home

If you were asked what two things determine the appearance of a house more than any other factor, the chances are that your reply would be "wallpaper and paint." These two things cover the interior of the house, and perhaps 90 per cent of the exterior of the average frame house is covered with paint. Therefore it is not hard to understand why paint and paper make such a difference in the appearance of a home.

The time of year is at hand when most of us spend a great deal more time indoors than we do outdoors. We entertain more at home, and for our own sakes, as well as our guests', we should keep the appearance of our homes as good as possible. The answer is to give the exterior a thorough coat of paint, shellac and wax the floors, varnish or paint the woodwork, and paper where necessary. Regardless of how well satisfied you may be with your home in its present condition, you will be greatly surprised at the wonderful change that can be wrought in it with a small expenditure of time and money.

You can do a large part of this work yourself if you purchase your supplies from a concern such as the Redinger Wallpaper and Paint store, 196 South Broadway. You are practically sure of getting good results and beautiful effects in redecorating your home.

Redinger's has complete stock of paints, varnishes, and enamels for every purpose, as well as a wide variety of new wallpaper designs in attractive patterns.

SANITARY WARE PLAYS PART IN MODERN HOUSES

Homes More Convenient As Result Of Progress By Salem Factory

When one examines a beautiful modern home, and compares the modern tendencies with the practices of a few years ago, there are three things that stand out, namely, convenience, compactness, and beauty. The old fashioned house had a large amount of waste space in high ceilings, hallways and other unnecessary places—even the plumbing fixtures took up a great deal of unnecessary room. The old fashioned bath tub stood out from the wall on ugly iron legs with a lot of unsightly pipes in plain view. The kitchen sink was even more of an eyesore than the bathroom fixtures, and there were none of the modern conveniences to lighten the work of the housekeeper.

Today the situation is entirely changed, and owners of modern homes point with pride to their bathrooms and kitchens as two of the most attractive rooms in the house. Built in fixtures with concealed piping—beautiful enameled iron sanitary ware in a variety of colors, such as that made by the National Sanitary company of this city—these are the things that have made the modern home what it is today.

If you are planning on building a new home, or remodeling your present bathroom or kitchen, you will be interested in seeing this attractive enameled ware, manufactured by one of Salem's largest industrial plants, and handled by all good plumbers. These products are sold all over the United States, the factory of the National Sanitary company employs 225 people, according to H. E. Haymes, sales manager of this large organization.

BEWARE THE COUGH FROM COLDS THAT HANG ON

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action: it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

COLUMBIANA

Columbiana amateur actors scored a hit Monday and Tuesday evening at the High school auditorium in the musical show, "See You Later," for the benefit of the two local troops of Boy Scouts. Jimmie LaVerre Mason, of the Triangle Producing Co., Greensboro, N. C., was the director and also took one of the parts in the cast. Mrs. Lester Harrold served as accompanist. The members of the cast were Willis Orr, Kathryn Donbar, Hildred Esterly, Don Slagle, Mary Zimmerman, William Hoffman, John Beswick, John Ryan, Jr., Francis Reinher, and Jimmie LaVerre. The girls' chorus was especially well drilled by the director. The girls were: Sally Detwiler, Betty Durkee, Ellen Warrick, Josephine Jepson, Ruth Slagle, Velma Wilson, Dorothy McGale, Christine Baughman, Mary Readshaw, Eleanor Fisher, Louise Fullerton, Eleanor Lehman, Virginia Shaffer and Betty Bunkle. Joe McGahan, Norman Magill, Raymond Hobart and Henry Reinher, Jr. were in a mixed chorus.

Two groups of little girls were designated as a broom chorus and work chorus. The participants were: Wanda Sheets, Vivian Hum, Evelyn Hooper, Sara Todd, Betty Beswick, Dawn Stacy, Mary Chestnut, Ellen Esterly, Dorothy Sheets, Maxia Gruber, Arlene Harrold, Alice Stacy, Virginia Heim, Marjorie McGale and Mary Anglenyer. Members of the two troops of scouts also took part in the opening scene, which depicted a scout convention. Much of the success of the show is due to the untiring efforts of the two local Scoutmasters, Charles Reinher and Dent Graham. The scouts will use the money derived from the show in the construction of a scout cabin and camp.

The Misses Minnie, Pearl and Attai Renkenberger were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Dayton Dutrow, at Eureka.
 Mr. and Mrs. Irl Zimmerman and son, Robert, Akron, were week-end guests of Mrs. Zimmerman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Johnathan Lower, N. Elm St.
 Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Meunch and Mrs. Martha Figley, Pittsburgh, were week-end guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Pinkerton, east of town.

Honors Memory of Great South American Liberator

MONUMENT TO GEN. BOLIVAR

GEN. SIMON BOLIVAR

LA PAZ, CAPITAL OF BOLIVIA

VENEZUELA—Freedom is man's greatest gift to man. Each country has its own particular hero enshrined in its heart and each country feels its hero is the greatest of all heroes.

All Venezuela is preparing to honor the hundredth anniversary of the death of Simon Bolivar, the great liberator of the South American states the man who freed his country from the Spanish oppressor, and helped other provinces to obtain the priceless boon of freedom. His life was spent in the service of mankind and although he had at his command and unlimited control the revenues of three countries, he died without a cent of public money in his possession.

It was a visit in 1819 to the United States that sowed in the heart of the young Venezuelan grande the seed of freedom. He was born in Caracas, Venezuela, on July 24, 1783, of wealthy and noble parentage. Young Simon was sent to Europe to further his education and lived for some years in Madrid. During his travels in Europe he was an eyewitness of some of the stirring scenes enacted during the last phases of the French Revolution.

It was on his return to Venezuela, which country he reached via America, that he saw that sometimes an organized minority could be more powerful than an overwhelming majority. From then on he decided to identify himself with the cause of freedom and independence, a cause which was already alive in the Spanish colonies.

It was on July 5, 1811, that Venezuela declared its independence. Bolivar was in command of an important fort but not being supported he had to abandon the place and owing to inaction of various Venezuelan leaders the Spanish recovered their advantage. In 1812, Bolivar received a commission to operate against Spanish troops on the Magdalena River. And the real war for freedom was on.

By clever strategy, Bolivar succeeded in forcing his way into the heart of Venezuela and gained the support of the people and so with augmented forces he began his great drive. Bolivar met with many vicissitudes and reverses and the country passed alternately into the hands of the insurrectionists and the royalists. Enormous Spanish forces were landed and Bolivar, crushed and hopeless embarked for Kingston, Jamaica, in 1814. An attempt on his life was unsuccessful.

It was President Petion, of Haiti, who furnished Bolivar with the small army that was to fight the way to freedom for Bolivar and his countrymen. With a small force the liberator returned to South America. The hostile forces encountered each other in 1817 and a desperate battle was waged by Bolivar against overwhelming odds. But two days of desperate man-to-man fighting found the royalists defeated and Bolivar saw the beginning of the road that was to lead to his glory. Several further victorious engagements gave him complete pos-

THE HOME KITCHEN

By Jeannette Young Norton

Flavoring the Home-Baked Ham
 The old-fashioned cook was cheerfully explaining why she had a reputation for baking such delicious hams. "Always I used to add a pint of good sherry in the baking, and baste the meat a lot." Cooking sherry of a sort is still available, and improves the flavor of the meat a good deal.

But there are other equally desirable seasonings. To begin with, ham should be cooked thoroughly, though slowly. Like roast beef, this is one of our popular meats, which, too often, is not as tender as it should be. That is sometimes due to the quality of the meat itself, but more often to the tendency to cook it too quickly. Ham should first be cleaned—brushed with warm water. Then soaked overnight. In the morning put into fresh cold water to cover and simmer, slowly, for three hours or more, depending on the size, but allowing about 30 minutes per pound. Test with a fork for tenderness, and when well cooked, remove from fire and let cool off in the water in which it was cooked. Then remove the skin from the ham, and it is now ready for basting.

Cut the fat around the ham in squares or scoring, as it is called, and push a clove into each square. Then sprinkle thickly with brown sugar—about one cupful—and a dash of pepper. Now place in roasting pan with the fat side up. About two cups of liquid should be added, and the nature of this liquid will contribute much toward the excellence of the ham. Cider, pineapple juice, grape juice, ginger ale, or some more exhilarating liquid—all are good blends with the natural ham flavor. Bake in a hot oven for about half an hour, basting with the pan liquid frequently, so that it penetrates the meat as much as possible.

 If desired the liquid in the pan may be thickened with a little flour and served as additional gravy with the hot meat.

TRY TO BE THANKFUL
GOOD TIMES AHEAD.
A MONSTER IN ICE.
A NAKED RACE? NEVER.

By Arthur Brisbane
(Copyright 1930 By King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Tomorrow comes Thanksgiving day, only a few hours are left to find reasons for thankfulness.

You are alive, and have chances left.

Your country is not yet in the League of Nations.

Bootlegging, racketeering and official corruption have become so bad that they can't get worse.

Other countries are worse off than we, a poor comfort, but some comfort.

There is no famine, plague, war or real panic.

In fact, we have too much of everything, coal, sugar, oil, wheat and turkeys are cheap.

Be thankful if you can feel thankful. It is good for the health.

Pessimism and bitterness injure heart and mind.

Walter Sherman Gifford, head of the gigantic American Telephone and Telegraph Co., expects good times to drive out bad times, SOON.

His opinion is important, for the telephone company, reaching everywhere and everybody, is well informed.

Mr. Gifford thinks we are going to see such prosperity as never was, and we may enjoy a sort of Utopia, with the spirit of service and good will governing big business.

It's a lovely picture, but let us hope better times will come without waiting for the Utopia. That will not come until human nature shall have changed, say in 10,000 years, probably longer.

This news will keep scientists from sleeping.

On Glacier Island, near Cordova, in Alaska, a strange creature has been found imprisoned in a block of ice. It looks like a giant lizard with fur, in perfect condition.

The head is six feet long, the total length nearly 50 feet. Millions of years ago, probably before men had appeared on earth, that creature was locked up in solid ice and preserved through the tens of thousands of centuries.

Moral: Get an idea, develop it, and it will make you rich, especially if it appeals to human vanity.

New York, having been rather supercilious about crime and rackets in Chicago, the big Lake City, will attend with some interest to revelations.

Sheriff Organizes Force To Combat Farm Robberies

Offensive Against Thefts Will Be Continued Indefinitely

The Columbiana county night road patrol, organized 10 days ago by Sheriff William S. Barlow, will continue operations indefinitely Barlow announced today.

The patrol was formed chiefly for the purpose of halting poultry raids and farm robberies.

Initial results of the patrols activities came with the arrest Saturday of Richard Hewitt, 28, and Ray Graves, 30, Youngstown, paroled prisoners.

Hewitt and Graves, Sheriff Barlow said today, probably will be arraigned before Justice Claude Albright in Lisbon.

In the last 10 days or since the patrol was formed, only one report has been filed with the sheriff's office.

Sheriff Barlow heads the patrol group, which includes Deputy Frank Ballantine, Dave Yost, Roy Lewton, C. E. Donahay, dog warden, and George Lewis, Salem constable.

The patrol is "on the go" virtually every night and usually manages to cover the entire county.

Last night, according to the sheriff's report, the group covered 149 miles.

The six members are divided in three pairs and each night each pair covers a designated section of the county.

"Buy Now" Drive Offers Solution To Problem Of Idleness

The "Buy Now" campaign, launched by merchants of the Salem district, with the co-operation of manufacturers, and bankers, is a long step in solving the unemployment situation, sponsors of the movement pointed out today.

If the public can be encouraged to "buy now," merchants will be compelled to purchase new stocks for their stores thereby speeding up industrial plants engaged in the production of various lines of merchandise. As manufacturing increases additional workers will be placed on the payrolls.

"The sooner we appreciate that it is everybody's business to make business better the sooner we all will be benefited," said a statement issued by representative merchants today.

The home office listed the number of seriously injured at 152. Houses destroyed numbered 645 and 4,499 buildings were seriously damaged. Seventy-nine other buildings were razed by fire.

TOKYO, Nov. 26.—At least 215 persons were killed and several hundred injured today in eastern Japan's most destructive earthquake since the disaster of 1923.

Striking a score of towns and villages of northern Izu peninsula, the playground of Japan, at 4:03 a. m. (2:03 p. m. E. S. T. Tuesday) the quake destroyed or seriously damaged 4,500 buildings according to an official estimate. It climaxed a series of earthquakes in that area since November 10.

With communications partially restored in the stricken area, which is 125 miles southwest of here, authorities began the tragic tally of the casualties. The home ministry's announcement this evening of 215 deaths was matched by a survey by Rengo News-Agency showing 219 dead.

Fires, landslides and bursting reservoirs added to the havoc after the quake had reached its maximum of violence. Many communities had yet to be heard from and their reports were expected to enlarge the death toll. Property losses already have been estimated in the scores of millions of yen.

Reports indicated the heaviest blow fell upon the area extending from Mishima to Numazu, a region

Russia is a country that is burying their troubles. Your criticism is your epitaph.

WHY HAVE THANKSGIVING

"It is in special manner our
duty as a people, with devout
reverence and affectionate gratitude, to acknowledge our many
and great obligations to Al-
mighty God and to implore him
to continue and confirm the
blessings which we experience."

George Washington wrote this in
a Thanksgiving proclamation to
honor the king of France while the
revolutionary troops were wintering
at Valley Forge. Taken out of its
peculiar setting of abject misery,
discouragement, poverty and death
it still retains enough intrinsic significance to be timely on Thanksgiving day 1930.

There is grumbling now, as there
was at Valley Forge, and at Plymouth, too, in 1621 when Governor
Bradford proclaimed the first
Thanksgiving day on the North American continent. Many will
mutter, as they did then, will ask
what they have to be thankful for.
There is economic depression, they
will say. People are hungry. Business is bad. They will display, in short, an extremely inconsistent propensity to exult in their imaginary
sackcloth and ashes. They blend themselves wilfully to the fact that everything is being done to help the
hungry that can be done, that no
one is being allowed to suffer with-
out the comfort that comes from
knowing there is someone to help,
and that conditions are better than
they ever have been before in a similar period. They will indulge, in
short, in the foolish fallacy of comparing what they think ought to be
with the best that earnest men
produce.

What would have happened, one
wonders, if Governor Bradford's
colleagues or the half-clothed soldiers
of the Continental army had been
as ready to complain or their terrific hardships as are some modern Americans whose relatively unim-
portant losses in the stock market
have soured them?

But the malcontents cannot spoil
Thanksgiving. They must yield to
the majority—the people who are
big enough to give thanks for what
they have and to anticipate with
relish the hard work and changes
of circumstances which will bring
them more.

The first Thanksgiving was
packed with significance because it
was a spontaneous expression of
gratitude for something received
and appreciated. Some Americans
have become soft ingrates from
over-indulgence. Their minds have ceased to recognize and understand
certain fundamental qualities—
qualities which can make the poor
man happy while the wealthy man
broods. One does not need to be a Polyanna to see these things. He needs only to clear his vision.

America is a land of peace. It is
a nation of 120,000,000 people with a quick, intelligent consciousness of the needs of its unfortunate. More than any nation ever has done, it
is looking forward to the day when
the clash of groups and interests
will injure no one. America is still
a land of opportunity—where beg-
gar boys may become princes and
princes may act like beggar boys
if they chose. America's citizens are possessed of the innate intelligence
and opportunities which will enable
them to solve the industrial problems that perplex the world. In less
time than it has taken most other
countries to stabilize one system of
government America has risen to
one of the world's two or three
greatest and most tolerant nations.
You are part of this. You owe it

JOSEF STALIN

The distinguished piece of report-
ing by Eugene Lyons, United Press
correspondent in Moscow, which has
given the world a sympathetically
conceived and executed sketch of Josef Stalin, Soviet leader and the
most important man in the Communist party, will not gain any
converts for Bolshevism, but it will
remove many enemies from Stalin.
The wise man is never intolerant of
people, only of things, and Mr.
Lyons has shown Stalin to be a purposeful, kindly man forced to assume certain semblances of ruthles-
sness by his tremendous responsibilities.

Americans, unless otherwise informed, have conceived of Stalin as
a "man of steel," a "rude" dictator
who has submerged his personality
for the sake of an experiment—has
made of himself a ruthless machine
for the sake of a governmental machine. Mr. Lyons erases these hard
lines and substitutes those softer,
more complete ones which personal
knowledge of a man's intentions and
capacities never fails to produce.
Stalin told Mr. Lyons that of all
the nations in the world he thought
the United States, with which Russia is anxious to secure trade, is
the most eager to secure the truth
about the Soviets. He anticipates
that Russia will become the world's largest producer of grain in a few
more years but laughs at the
charges of dumping that have been
made against it. He points out that while Russia may be able to produce
some things more cheaply by eliminating speculators and middlemen
that its home markets will consume
all it can produce for many years
yet.

Capitalist and Communist systems can exist side by side, Stalin
believes, and remarks later in the
interview that he cannot understand
why the foreign press is so hostile
to him. In this, incidentally, one detects a characteristic of the advocates of any social readjustment
which attempts to gain something at
the expense of a class—the eager-
ness to seize upon misunderstanding
and to interpret it as persecution.
Stalin knows that if the Soviet
is misunderstood it is because there
has been no means of learning
about it. On the other hand, there
are those who disagree with Communism because they understand it
too well.

The kindly and apparently accurate picture which the world has been given of the Communist
leader has done more to gain sympathy, to promote a desire for better understanding than all the
propaganda Russia could disseminate
in the next five years. With-
out understanding completely what Communism is doing in Russia,
without believing, perhaps, in that
which it is trying to do elsewhere—
namely, to create a world revolution
—many thousands of newspaper
readers know Josef Stalin better.

They have been made to realize
again that misunderstanding breeds
enemies—understanding, friendship.
They are willing to exercise that
friendship as far as possible where
it concerns a man who is sworn

What Others Say

THAT "THIRD PARTY" TALK

A successful effort by the so-
called progressive elements in congress to create a "third party" made up of malcontents from the Republican and Democratic ranks
might have any one of several results. Two possible immediate consequences that suggest themselves
are the appearance of a real bloc
system as a result of the operation
of a continuing disintegrative process, and a whole new realignment
of forces in which the more responsible representatives of the two great parties would work together up to a certain point and would incline to present a solid front against dis-
senters from both camps.

The second possibility may or may
not be the more likely to develop
into reality, but it is the more logical of the two, and is the one that
would leave open a way for continuance of orderly party government
in this country. Indeed, if a general
inter-party revolt of the "progressive"
forces at this time could be counted upon to produce such a finish, an encouragement of the seces-
sion might on the whole be a good thing. That sort of a break would
at least tend to unscramble the existing, almost impossible, situation under which a party label on a lapel
may mean anything or nothing—
except when there are committee
appointments to be distributed.

The condition that seems to
militate most against any such development to the present upshot talk
among the members of the radical
crowd in congress, is the fact that
such a realignment would place the
aggregation in a hopeless minor-
ity division and would rob it of
most of its power to make trouble.

Though they talk a lot, and furnish most of the noise that floats
from the doors of the national capitol
building, the "progressives" really
are comparatively few. Relatively,
they are only a handful, and much
of their prestige grows out of the circumstance that for a number of years they have been able to maintain a balance of power or near
balance of power which those who
logically should squelch them have
not had sense enough to destroy. So
they have exercised an influence on
legislation and on public policy that
has been grossly out of proportion
to their numerical strength and to
the aggregate size of their popular
following. It seems difficult to believe that the leaders of the radical clique will be willing to risk losing their position of tactical advantage by open secession from the parties they encumber.—Detroit Free Press.

BORDER POLICE QUESTIONED IN LIQUOR PROBE

Special Treasury Agents
To Investigate Reports Of Graft

(By Associated Press)
DETROIT, Nov. 26.—Twenty or more customs border patrolmen were to appear before the federal grand jury today to explain under oath, actions considered suspicious by special treasury agents investigating reports of liquor graft here for several weeks.

No Charges Preferred
The border patrolmen were taken into custody yesterday. No charges were preferred but it was said that the special agents hold warrants which will be served if the patrolmen cannot explain their actions satisfactorily.

The investigation was conducted secretly, and no announcement made here as to the nature of the charges which may be preferred. It was learned, however, that charges had been filed with the customs bureau that the patrolman under suspicion had appropriated confiscated liquor to their own use.

In Washington, it was said that the basis for the arrests will be dictated by the United States district attorney here as soon as all the names in the charges are known.

previous investigation resulted in the arrest of 23 patrolmen and bootleggers. Most of those arrested are now serving prison sentences.

Results Are Secret
Customs officials here refused to divulge the results of the present investigation. It was recalled, however, that an incident was reported in recent weeks in which two patrolmen had attempted to make away with a quantity of confiscated beer.

Others purported to see a connection between the investigation and the recent rescinding of the licenses of two Ontario brewers for violating the Ontario liquor control act by selling beer to unauthorized persons. The purchasers, it was alleged, intend to smuggle the beer into the United States.

One individual, a court official, confesses that he has regularly taken bribes from lawyers representing miserable women accused of vice. The women, acquitted, paid their lawyers well. At least one magistrate made a specialty of having such cases brought to his court and doubtless got his share.

Lawyers, plenty of them "sworn officers of the court," were engaged in bribery as a profession, backed by blackmail of unfortunate women as a source of profit.

President Hoover does not approve a department of justice campaign to discourage local racketeering. For the government to interfere is "a reflection on the sovereignty and stamina of state governments."

That is true, but when state governments and great cities prove that they have neither "sovereignty nor stamina" somebody must do something.

Heart, lungs are all awaiting scientific examination. The find will add an important chapter to man's knowledge of things as they once were.

Professor Flugel, of the London university says, "The world is approaching nudism."

He believes that men are getting tired of wearing clothes, will soon abandon them and women will lead the way. In this country they have the way, part way.

As a scientist, Professor Flugel predicts that women will force the human race to go back to absolute nakedness. But it can't go back to anything of the kind.

If the race had ever been absolutely naked, it would not have survived.

It used to be covered with hair, generally red, in the north, and very thick, reaching from the forehead to the toes. That got wet, and couldn't be taken off to dry. Intelligence suggested clothes instead, and hair gradually disappeared as clothes were worn. The more hair, the less civilized.

The professor is mistaken in his idea that clothing is "an episode in the history of humanity." Clothing is a part of comfort and common sense, also a part of decency, and decency will last.

In addition, nothing on earth, except a lot of worms in a little boy's fishing can, could be uglier than a lot of men and women naked. They would look and be so silly that they could not think.

For millions of years nature worked in Africa, making the skin of men black and tightly curling their hair to counteract the deadly tropical sun. Without the blackness and curliness men could not have survived.

A little while ago in St. Louis, Mrs. Walker, a widow, negro, who took in washing to support her little girl, had an idea. She invented something to "take the kinks out of hair too tightly curled."

She is dead, her daughter lives in Paris, an auctioneer is selling the contents of her house that cost more than a half a million dollars.

POCAHONTAS, Va.—Edward Holland, 101-year-old Negro, is dead here, after having outlived his wife and 18 children. He had lived in Pocahontas for 52 years, during which he was proprietor of the Holland House, a Negro hotel. He was a slave prior to the War Between the States.

Skin Complaints

One of youth's greatest blessings is a clear, clean skin. My heart goes out to boys and girls, young men and women, who have pimples, red patches and unattractive complexion.

The most common of skin complaints is known as acne. This takes several forms — blackheads, bumps, lumps, yellow capped pimples, etc. The face, back and upper part of the chest, are favorite places of attack.

One sad thing about the ailment is that it may leave pits and scars. While in most instances it is a mere passing disfigurement, an aggravated case may permanently damage and mar the face.

Many a girl, with really perfect features, has been made unhappy for life, first by the acute stages of the trouble, and then by the permanent scars. It is to avoid all this that I am writing today.

By the way, if what I say is not entirely clear to you, or you feel your trouble is not exactly what I am describing today, don't hesitate to write me. The editor of this paper will send me your letter, and I shall be only too pleased to answer you question. If I can make life happier for a young person—or an old one—that adds to my joy.

Among the fundamental causes of acne are four outstanding factors. In girls the possibility of some disturbance of the pelvic organs must be considered. Digestive disturbances, due, perhaps, to wrong eating, are quite commonly observed in all skin troubles.

The presence of some "focal infection," in teeth or tonsils is another factor for great importance. Lastly, improper cleansing of the skin is a thing that must never be overlooked as a cause.

Since space does not permit full discussion today of all these matters, I shall speak of but one, the last one. I do so because I am more and more impressed that the average person really neglects the skin.

We hurry through life, and, because we think we have no time for this and that duty, we skimp in many things. One of these oversights relates to the skin. You will, perhaps, be shocked to be told this, but, perhaps it applies to you.

Soap and water, a wash-cloth and "elbow grease" must be abundantly applied to the face if it is to be kept really clean. It is not enough to wash the face once a day, particularly if the skin is inclined to "break out." Several scrubbings, especially the morning and night bathings, must be really vigorous ones.

If a girl uses powder and rouge she should never go to bed without getting off every bit of foreign substance. After repeated applications of soap and water, she may then apply a bit of cold cream, if she wishes. But, first, make sure the skin is perfectly clean.

I shall tell you more about the skin very soon.

Answers to Health Queries

B. R. Q.—Will you give me some information about chewing gum? Is it harmful or injurious in any way?

A.—If chewed after meals it sometimes helps to aid digestion. It should not be chewed at other times, however.

S. C. Q.—What harm, if any, can be done by sun blistering the stomach or abdomen.

A.—Burns are always dangerous to kidneys if the trouble is extensive and they might become infected, to say nothing of the discomfort caused by blistering this delicate skin.

Miss K. E. S. Q.—What is the cause of canker sores?

A.—Canker sores usually indicate an acid in the system. The diet should be corrected.

R. E. McK. Q.—What causes a sinus infection and how can it be definitely cleared up?

A.—In most cases the trouble is due to a catarrhal infection. This should be definitely located and treated first of all. Clear up the underlying disturbance.

EXPLORER DIES

Captain Otto Sverdrup
Succumbs At Home In Oslo, Norway

(By Associated Press)
OSLO, NORWAY, Nov. 26.—Otto Sverdrup, 70 years old, Polar explorer, died last night.

Captain Sverdrup in his lifetime gained a reputation as one of the foremost polar explorers. He spent a number of winters above the Arctic circle, at various times conducting expeditions to Franz Joseph Land, along the Northern Siberian coast, and elsewhere in the Arctic.

Twice he headed expeditions to search for lost Russian exploring parties, once in 1914 aboard the ship eclipse, which was forced to spend the winter north of Siberia, ice-bound, and in 1920 to the Kara sea to seek a Russian party ice-bound in the steamer Salovic.

Growing old, he gave his expert advice to rescue parties arranged the search for lost members of the Noble expedition and for Roald Amundsen, his friend of long standing, who was lost off Tromsø in a futile attempt to aid General Nobbe.

The Stars Say —

For Thursday, November 27

A day of pleasure, merriment, extravagance and indulgence is read from the dominant positions of the planets, both mutually and by lunar transit. While the keynote is one of festivity and heightened holiday spirit, yet there is need for discreet, personal behavior and definite restraint in the matter of self-indulgence. Friction and inharmoniousness might easily arise in social, domestic or romantic associations.

Those whose birthday it is may have a year of pronounced proclivity and incentive to extravagance and self-indulgence, with possibly personal affairs interfering and jeopardizing the business interests. A child born on this day should be kindly, popular, socially active and ambitious.

NEW YORK
Day by Day
by O.O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—Those thatching gray about the temples and collecting crow's feet around the eyes are tickled over the sudden return to the typewriter of that strapping, white-haired author of their youth—Burt L. Standish. Under this pseudonym he turned out the five cent Frank Merriwells.

In real life he is Gil Patten, from up Bangor way, a two-listed writing man whose total output exceeds that of any living writer. He is a typical drawling-voiced down Easterner who inspired thousands of boys to become collectors of his Tip Top Library at the cross roads.

Years after Frank Merriwell was only a memory I used to play pool with a crowd which included the late Clare Briggs, the late William Johnston, Ewing Galloway, H. T. Webster, Ray Rohn and Herb Roth. We gathered at an uptown hotel.

Into the game one Saturday afternoon came a fellow they called "Gil." We were casually introduced and as he was about to make a shot someone nudged and whispered: "That's the bird who used to write the Frank Merriwells." I don't recall receiving a bigger thrill.

I cornered him and told of my youthful admiration and he seemed actually surprised anyone had remembered him. Frank Merriwell was dropped because Author Patten had carried him all through Yale and to a happy marriage. Too, the movie pictures came along with a new sort of wallop.

But the pendulum swings back. Patten believed there was a place for a dime weekly fitting into the pocket. The Swift Story Magazine Co. was incorporated as a result. The newer hero, modernized, is known as "Bob Hunter or The Boss of the Run Runners."

Pattern at the peak of the Merriwell craze never made more than $100 a week, although that was big reward in Gay Ninety days. It is estimated during his productive years he turned out 40,000,000 words with a lead pencil.

The 5 and 10's now sponsor a group of dime monthly magazines sold only on their news stands. Two already near the million circulation

mark. A chain of cigar stores fosters a full length 50 cent novel and two five cent weeklies for sophisticates are on the grill.

Hack writers, turning out pot boilers, used to live precariously in cobwebby Village attics, working when rent was over-due and idling rest of the time in the candle-lit coffee parlors and waffle snops. With the movies, the hack writer became almost extinct, but due to economic conditions he faces a rosier future.

On a stretch of Riverside Drive elderly twin brothers come to a certain bench daily at sun-down, light pipes and sit in studied contemplation never exchanging a word. At the precise minute nightly they walk away together. "Odd duffies" commented a corner cop. Odd doubtless in this neck of the woods because they mind their own business.

To warm up my workshop I closed doors leading into it. For an hour the two dogs have had their noses glued to the sill crack, thinking they are missing something beyond. That's how nose they are.

And to fill off time waiting a little heat I picked up one of those futuristic books with angular drawings which began: "If you can think of space when it was apparently empty you were there." No wonder people ache for Frank Merriwell literature again. At least it didn't give you the ipsiliphis.

In the dining room of a Cincinnati boarding house years ago a fellow diner was a self-effacing and singularly courteous gentleman—the last person one would imagine interested in boxing, horse racing and other sports. Yet it was Frank J. Bruen, who became for a time manager of Madison Square Garden and is the man many believe will succeed to the place held by Tex Rickard in promoting big sporting events.

The painted cheeks and mascara dripping eyelashes of a 34th Street department store floorwalker at 11:45 a. m. were too much. At 1:30 a. m. I still cannot remember what I wanted to ask him.

Goshen Harmony club members met Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Lizzie Kirtland, Goshen road, for a cover dish dinner.

This was a farewell party for the hostess, who moved to Damascus Wednesday.

Guests of the club were Miss Emma Wilkins, of Winona, and Mrs. W. E. Townsend, Mrs. Harold Miller and Mrs. Ella Lloyd, of the Goshen road.

Report Lower Prices

And even though the financial news of the day tells of less money in circulation and less buying going on, the same columns report lower prices on many of life's necessities.

Here in Washington Thanksgiving is a brilliant day, topped off by a fashionable ball attended by many of the Republic's leaders.

But President Hoover, both by precedent and personal inclination, will not attend that ball. Thanksgiving day for him will be a quiet one, spent at the White House fireside with his family and friends—an observance simple and in keeping with that of the American home.

"WET" LEADERS SEE NO CHANGE IN LIQUOR LAW

Don't Expect Next Congress To Be Able To Do Much

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—In spite of all the flurry and discussion over prohibition in congressional circles, a number of wet leaders are convinced there is no chance of altering dry laws at the coming session.

Some of them are organizing, however, for a drive to modify the Volstead act when the new congress comes in—some time after next March 4.

Predicts Congress Vote
Senator Tydings, Democrat, Maryland, who has opposed prohibition, predicted today votes would be taken on modification proposals in the next congress. On one point, however, he intends to continue his anti-prohibition drive this session. That is the elimination of any poisoning denaturants from industrial alcohol.

"Entrances of leaders in both Republican and Democratic parties meanwhile displayed the widening spaces between wet and dry in their respective ranks."

Advocate Referendum
Senator Watson of Indiana, Republican leader, yesterday advocated a referendum to determine popular sentiment, although maintaining his belief the country still is for prohibition. Senator Fess of Ohio, now Republican national chairman, has spoken emphatically for no let up in the dry position.

Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, leader of the Democrats and a presidential possibility, predicted his party would not endorse repeal in 1932. However, Bernard M. Baruch, prominent Democratic New Yorker, came from a party conference with word that the north and east were "certainly against the Eighteenth Amendment."

MARKETS STOCKS HEAVY, TRADING LIGHT

Partial Recovery Made By Few Issues, But Rally Is Feeble

(By Associated Press) NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—Stocks were heavy in colorless trading during the earlier hours of today's market. Partial recovery was made from declines of a point or so in leading industrials and utilities, but the rally was feeble.

U. S. Steel was well supported on a large practical recession and moved slightly above yesterday's close. Rails were soft, particularly Union Pacific, off 4, and Missouri Kansas Texas preferred and Nickel Plate, off 3 each. Atchison, New York Central, Southern Railway and Erie lost 1 to 1 1/2. Baltimore & Ohio was an exception, rallying a point. A few other issues, including Sears Roebuck, also moved against the trend. Call money renewed at 2 per cent.

about fifteen miles long and five to ten miles wide.

Nirayama Wiped Out
The village of Nirayama was wiped out, 69 persons being killed there. Nagoka, a hot springs resort, also was destroyed, 22 having perished there. A group of small villages in the southern part of the stricken area reported 80 dead.

The larger towns on the northern edge of the quake belt escaped with relatively less damage. Mishima reported four deaths. Numazu one and Atami three. Fires, however, added to the destruction in these towns but they were controlled.

A portion of this stricken area also suffered heavily in the earthquake of 1923, notably Atami, Hakone and Ito.

Definite news from Shimoda, at the southern tip of Izu peninsula, was lacking but a naval plane flying over the town reported no serious damage had been observed.

Relief Units Organized
Troops from Mishima and Shizuoka entered the stricken region to maintain order and relieve suffering. Newspapers organized relief units to aid the Red Cross and the military, while the home ministry sent experts to ward off disease.

Scores of injured were taken to the hospital at Mishima, which escaped serious damage. A party of Seismologists from Tokyo central observatory went to the quake belt and issued warnings that further seismic activity was likely there.

Most of the inhabitants, even those possessing houses, took to the open, fearing further shocks.

EDISON JOINS WITH AVIATION IN FOG BATTLE

Thinks Solution To Problem Much Simpler Than It Appears

(By Associated Press) WEST ORANGE, N. J., Nov. 26.—Thomas A. Edison is trying to bring aviation out of the fog. He has been experimenting with rockets to circumvent flying's greatest enemy. His rockets would give off light by night and a black smoke by day to locate airports and determine the depth of the fog.

Believes Problem Simple
"It seems to me that aviation can not see the mountain for the mole hill," he remarked in stating his belief that the solution of the problem was much simpler than it appeared.

"Radio, at the present time, is a bit too delicate for fog work," he said in disapproval of the radio beacon for blind flying. "I personally prefer to work up something much more simple, involving, perhaps, sight or sound." Edison disclosed his experiments in a talk with Richard Aldworth, director of the Newark airport.

Among other things, the inventor asked—what color are various degrees of fog? How soon before you emerge from the fog does the color lighten? How does it look from the top? If you know the depth of the fog can you land safely?

Might Create Sound
On the subject of sound as a guide to blind flying, Aldworth said the drone of the motor would drown out such signals.

"On the contrary," replied Edison, "a distinctive sound could be created which would cut through the sound of the motor and reach the aviator."

Pomona in another resolution renewed its former resolutions "demanding some form of rural police to safeguard the farmer's property and to make travel less hazardous on the public roads."

"This resolution was also passed by Pomona: 'We again urge upon the General assembly of Ohio to consider the injustice of our present laws to those who are in debt on their homes.'"

BANDITS RAID SOCIETY PARTY; SHOOT BROKER

Son Of Multimillionaire Slain When He Laughs At Gunmen

(By International News Service) CHICAGO, Nov. 26.—Five masked bandits invaded the fashionable Lake avenue tavern today and during the course of their robbery shot and killed Edwin Russell Thompson, prominent broker and son of Charles S. Thompson, multimillionaire traction magnate.

Laughs At Order
Young Thompson, a leader in society circles here, was slow to obey the commands of the gang and laughed when the leader ordered him to turn around.

Enraged, the gunman fired a saved-off shotgun point blank at Thompson's chest. Paying no further attention to the prostrate broker, the gang remained for 10 minutes, forcing Frank Engel, the proprietor, to open the safe, which yielded only $125. Several patrons were relieved of their valuables.

Wife In Hospital
Thompson, whose wife is at Evanston hospital awaiting the birth of their first child, had gone to the tavern to while away a nervous hour or two in a chat with the proprietor, a friend of his. Mrs. Thompson was not told of the tragedy.

The victim's father hurried to the scene and organized a hunt for the slayers in conjunction with the Glenview police.

FAMILY HEADS ARE PREFERRED BY EMPLOYERS

They Come First When
Cleveland Steel Firms
Have Jobs

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND, Nov. 26.—Stagger systems of employment are beginning to receive a general application among Cleveland's larger industrial plants as an important part of the program here to carry thousands of families safely
through the business depression.

This was revealed by industrial leaders today as they planned to meet next week with City Manager Daniel E. Morgan's unemployment committee for the application of further relief.

Probably the most nearly unique
of the various systems is that applied at the Otis Steel company,
and the Midland Steel Products Company, Inc.

Married Men Preferred
Married men with children are given a preferred rating, according to the plan as explained by Elroy J. Kulas, president of the two companies and representative from Ohio and the Cleveland district on President Hoover's committee on business stabilization.

A man without children, whose wife is ill, rates next, and a married man without children, third.
Bachelors are at the bottom of the list.

Under this system either the working day or the working week
may be shortened. It all depends upon the job, Kulas said.

General application of this system would go far to solve the unemployment problem.

Another notable system of staggering hours is applied by the Willard Storage Battery company, which, with the shortening of the working day and week has been able to keep 100 per cent of its employees on the job, officials of that company announced.

Unemployment Figures
Employment of regular forces at the principal factories is about 20 per cent below the high record of last year, the chamber of commerce estimated in its monthly figures. This is about 10 per cent below the record of 1928.

Employment is on a basis greater than that of 1924, and nearly equal to that of 1921, and 22 figures compiled by the federal-state-city public employment service show.

gion members in common pleas

mander John A. Elden of Cleveland.
An effort is to be made at this meeting to formulate plans to increase the county membership in

1,500 members. Lynn R. Riddle, commander of the Lisbon Legion post announced today there are about 3,000 men in Columbiana county eligible to membership.

Morrow Censors Children's Book Written By Wife

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK.—From Mrs. Dwight
W. Morrow has come news that her husband, when ambassador to Mexico, censored a book of hers. She wrote "The Painted Pig," a children's story. It contained the sentence, "generals are brittle and easily broken." The ambassador scrutinized the text carefully. Before
"generals" he inserted the word
"glass" to make it obvious that the reference was to toy generals.

NEW YORK.—At the age of 76
Wenzel A. Baboch, musician, has been inducted into Phi Beta Kappa. Notice of his election was mailed to him 57 years ago when he was attending the college of the city of New York,
but he never received it. He spent most of his life at Point Loma, Calif. Classmates with turkeys and chickens have been increasing with the approach of tur-

SCREEN STAR'S AID IS FACING THEFT CHARGE

"It" Girl's Secretary At Liberty Under Bond
Of $1,000

(By Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 26.—Daisy Devove, whose work as a hair dresser two years ago so pleased Clara Bow that the flaming haired screen
actress employed her as confidential secretary, was at liberty today under a $1,000 bond, charged by the grand jury on 37 counts of grand theft from her former employer.

Alleges Shortages
Investigation which resulted in the indictment late yesterday was begun two weeks ago, shortly after Miss Bow returned from New York and discharged Miss Devove, alleging she discovered shortages in her accounts.

The indictment charged Miss De-vove, who had access to the actress' bank account, issued unauthorized checks totaling $16,000. Both Miss Bow and Miss Devove were witnesses before the grand jury.

Comments on "Savings"
Following Miss Devove's dismissal, which at first was ascribed to personal differences, she commented freely on her business relations with the actress. She asserted she had saved Miss Bow's money, sometimes against the actress' will. She claimed to have originated the idea of stopping payment upon more than $12,000 in checks Miss Bow was alleged to have given a Nevada gambling house in payment for an evening's "entertainment."

COUNTY LISTS 3 FATALITIES IN INDUSTRIES

Report Covers Two-Month
Period; Safety Congress
In Columbus

A total of 197 accidents, resulting in one death, occurred in Columbiana county during October,
the Ohio Industrial commission stated in its monthly report today.

Forty-five workers injured in the county lost more than seven days
time as result of injuries, total time
lost to workers from casualties amounting to 7,753 days. In September the county had 187 accidents including two fatalities and a time loss of 13,163 days.

Ohio industrial workers reported 104 fatal and 18,425 non-fatal accidents in October, which is 14 more fatal and 935 more non-fatal accidents than were reported in the preceding month. The time loss as the result of accidents was 879,- 770 days.

Among the outstanding features of the safety program planned for 1931 by the industrial commission and the division of safety and hygiene, according to a statement by Supt. Thos. P. Kearns of the latter division, are a general safety campaign in Cleveland industries
and a state-wide effort for a reduction of accidents in the construction industry, in addition to a number of group and community campaigns in various sections of the state.

Superintendent Kearns also announces that April 21, 22 and 23, 1931 are the dates selected for the fourth annual session of the All-Ohio Safety Congress, which will be held in Columbus as heretofore.

Nobody Wants Cash

WARREN, Nov. 26.—Trumbull county has money that nobody wants. Commissioners recently sought bids for depositing receipts

There were no takers. Officials say they may put the money in county
vaults and hire a watchman.

any trouble cooking

Of course we have

MOVIES

"WHAT A WIDOW"
At The Grand

Gloria Swanson—the emotional actress—has become again Gloria Swanson, comedienne.

From her highly dramatic mother role in "The Trespasser," she has turned to the field of comedy to achieve another triumph as the dashing madcap referred to in the title of "What a Widow!", now playing at the Grand Theatre.

The freshness of viewpoint afforded picture fans by the constant striving for originality is very apparent.

From beginning to end the picture is essentially modern. The story treatment follows new lines. The sets reveal a development of the modernistic influence far in advance of current design. Miss Swan-son's clothes incorporate a sufficient number of fads and fancies to keep feminine fans alert every moment
she is on the screen.

Miss Swanson again gives evidence of her singing talent with her interpretation of three numbers written especially for her by Vincent Youmans, the composer.

Miss Swanson's supporting cast is headed by Owen Moore, Margaret Livingston and Lew Cody.

"THE STORM"
At The State

Lupe Velez has the best role of her career in "The Storm" now playing at the State Theatre.

The picture deals with the problem of the eternal triangle enacted
in a snowbound cabin in the wilds of western Canada. Inside the cabin rages the storm of love and passion,
outside is the rage of the elements.

Through force of circumstances,
two men, one a stalwart son of the backwoods, the other a polished product of the cities, are imprisoned with a beautiful French-Canadian girl in the snow-bound cabin.
Both desire her, each in his own way. How the problem is solved makes one of the most dramatic pictures that has ever come to the screen.

The human situation in "The Storm" alone would furnish drama and suspense enough for any picture. Added to this, however, are natural thrills of a surpassing nature.

RAYMOND, Wash.—After Elmer Lebeck and Ralph Grable were arrested on a drunk charge, officers searched their shack for liquor. Discovery of a quantity of liquid shoe polish indicated they had been drinking it.

THE DAY In Sports

SALEM HIGH FAVORED ALLIANCE CONFIDENT

Salem High will probably win its ninth game of the 1930 season Thursday afternoon and advance into a tie with Massillon High's grid eleven for the Northeastern Ohio football championship. The victory, if this prediction is correct, will come over Alliance High in the 30th football game played between the two schools since 1902, at Mount Union stadium at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow.

But the Stonemen will have to put up a battle for victory, probably will be forced to display their strongest offensive attack and defensive strength of the season, for Alliance has a powerful aggregation. A comparison of scores, a matter that gives fans lots of fun but doesn't mean a thing anymore as far as pre-game hype is concerned, favors neither aggregation and on the basis of performance of the rival aggregations during the season, it looks like a toss-up.

Figuring a little bit it is found that the Red and Black should pull through victoriously. Its four ball-carriers, Bill Smith, Ed Beck, John French and Jack Carpenter, are superior to the Stark county quartet, and on the line, except for a big weight advantage that may not mean so much, Salem is just as good as the opposition. The one big claim Alliance has to its claims of victories beforehand come in its 7-3 win over Canton McKinley, which to many is still considered as one of the season's biggest upsets.

Alliance fans, visiting Salem with heavily-filled pocketbooks, are supposed to be giving odds on their own team. Salem fans, those that are inclined to wager a bit themselves, in turn visit Alliance and have backed the Red and Black without a demand for odds. Fans of both cities are freely predicting victory.

The game will start at 2:30 with Davey M. Williams, Girard, A. C. Michaels, of Akron, and O. S. Ellis of Youngstown as officials. Tickets will be offered for sale in Salem for the last time tonight, the Lease Drug store, which is handling the ducks, being closed Turkey Day. Harold Williams, Salem faculty manager, requested that as many as possible of the Salem fans secure tickets today in order that they will not be forced to stand in line at the stadium.

Every detail of the game will be carried out identically with games of other years. Ralph S. Coppock, Alliance faculty manager said in a letter today. Proceeds, above expenses, will be shared between the two schools. A section of the uncovered bleacher stands will be reserved for the Salem cheering section while other Salem fans will have their choice of a special section in the covered bleachers and one in the uncovered section.

H. L. Stark, Alliance police chief, addresses the following greeting to Salem football fans: "I, as chief of police of Alliance, want to extend a hearty welcome to all Salem football fans who will attend the annual Salem-Alliance game at Alliance Thursday.

"The Alliance police department will extend all courtesies possible and will see that there is parking space for everybody. Arrangements have been made with Police Chief T. W. Thompson to have Salem police assist us in keeping order and members of your force will work with us and will be stationed with Salem fans.

"Hoping that that Salem team will have its usual large following, and that the best team wins."

Breaks Will Play Main Role In Grid Classic; Large Crowd Expected

One of the greatest football games in the history of gridiron rivalry between Salem and Alliance High teams will be fought when the two powerful aggregations collide in their 30th contest at Mount Union stadium, Alliance, at 2:30 p. m. Thursday.

Matched as evenly in all-around strength as any two scholastic teams that ever trod on the same gridiron, neither eleven rates the edge in pre-game hype. Both have lost only one game out of ten already played this season while a comparison of scores in which the rivals opposed mutual opponents doesn't throw any light on the probable outcome of the battle.

Alliance school officials earlier this week predicted an attendance of more than 5,000 fans but indications today were that the crowd will be approximately 7,000. There were approximately 5,500 fans at the 1929 classic, a game which resulted in a 7-0 triumph for the Red and Black at Reilly athletic stadium.

The weather to a certain extent, will be a determining factor in the size of the audience but then there won't be many, who intend to see the game, that will stay away if it rains, snows or hails. A blanket of snow almost six inches deep covered Reilly gridiron last season and not a fan of the 5,500 appeared aware of that fact. Cold is never felt at good football games.

Salem and Alliance teams always rate even in their annual battles despite of what has gone on before. There are few of the 29 games that have been played in the past 27 seasons that have resulted in one-sided victories for either aggregation and records show that more than a few times, when one or the other was the favorite on basis of paper statistics, the dope went wrong and the underdog registered decisive victories.

matched in all-around strength it will be a battle between speed and weight. Usually the former is the predominating element in the winning of gridiron verdicts but melting snows are expected to give the heavier team the advantage tomorrow. The weight handicap will be held against the Stonemen who will step onto the greensward the lighter team at an average of about 15 pounds per player.

The Red and Black has all season depended on a fast-forming offensive with end runs and off-tackle plays resulting in the majority of its gains or touchdowns runs. Alliance, with its giant linemen and only fairly fast ball-carrying quartet, has never flashed into the spotlight as an aggregation forced to depend on speed. More so, it has a battering-ram type of eleven that pushes its way through the opposition line with its bulky and well-built fullback, Bill Windland, tearing through the forwards with the hoghead.

Alliance Plans At Attack
Forward passes, an attack which netted Alliance its 7-3 verdict over Canton McKinley, a team which humiliated Salem, 26-9, are expected to appear in a leading role in Alliance's offense. Windland is generally in the receiving end with Quarterback Quick doing the hurling.

Where Ed Beck has been Salem's great offensive threat all season and has been stopped in only one game—that with New Philadelphia—Coach Floyd Stone will divide the ball-carrying burden between each of the Salem backfield stars. Forward passing, never one of Salem's big assets, isn't slated for any great part in the Quakers' attack.

When two teams are as evenly matched as the aggregations which will clash at Alliance, breaks are certain to appear as one of the deciding factors in the result.

Last year Dame Fortune favored neither team to any great extent and breaks that occurred went for naught but in past seasons the decision has rested many times on the ability of either team to take advantage of those offered. Alliance won in just such fashion in 1928—by a 2-0 score—when the Red and Black outplayed its opponents all the way but still lost.

Have Strongest Lineup
Salem will have its strongest lineup available but so will Alliance. The two starting teams will probably lineup as follows:

Twelve Contests Billed In East

(By Associated Press)
NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—An even dozen games comprise the eastern football slate for tomorrow—Thanksgiving day—but only four of them involve major elevens.

Heading the list by right of age will be the 37th clash at Philadelphia between Pennsylvania and Cornell. Penn. because of the Indian sign it has had on Cornell in recent years, perhaps will be a slight favorite but the Big Red eleven from Ithaca is conceded a good chance to upset the Quakers.

Ranking not far behind this game will be the duels of Columbia and Syracuse at New York; Brown and Colgate at Providence, and Pitt and Penn State at Pittsburgh.

Word that Ralph Hewitt probably will not get into the Columbia lineup except in an emergency has made Syracuse a favorite over the Lions. Colgate seems to have an edge on Brown as does Pitt on Penn State.

Albie Booth Will Head Yale In 1931

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Nov. 26.—For the first time in five years, Yale will have a back as football captain next season. Albert J. Booth, Jr., or Albie, as he's known to football fans, was elected as 1931 captain last night.

Albie is a quarterback and his selection breaks a tradition that line men shall be picked to captain Yale teams. The last backfield man to break the charm was P. W. Bunnell, in 1926.

Six Contests Will Wind Up Ohio State Football Season

By LATHROP MACK

(Associated Press Sports Writer)
COLUMBUS, Nov. 26.—The Thanksgiving turkey will taste better to winners and taste like crow to the losers of the six football games which wind up the Buckeye season tomorrow.

It is an interesting slate, although numerically small, which ends the long gridiron campaign for Ohio's 38 college teams.

Old Rivals Clash
Wittenberg and Dayton, intermittent rivals since 1897, battle at Dayton. The two teams look like opposite goalposts, so close do they appear to be in advance. Case and Western Reserve, two weak teams, always come to their final game on even terms, no matter what has gone before. The Miami-Cincinnati game in Cincinnati will be for third place in the Buckeye conference while Mount Union and Akron are two of the three strongest teams in the northeast.

In the remaining games Xavier meets the Haskell Indians and Wilberforce entertains West Virginia Institute in a game which is usually played in Columbus or Cleveland.

Dayton has won three games, lost three and tied two this year. Wittenberg has won three, lost two and tied three. Dayton has scored 61 points to 34 for its opponents. Wittenberg 61 to 32 for its opponents.

Teams Even In Series
In their seven game series to date the teams are just as close.

Dayton has won three games, Wittenberg four. Wittenberg has scored 136 points to Dayton's 46, chiefly because of a 67 to 0 victory in 1907. The teams played in 1897, 1899, 1907, 1912, 1913, 1927 and 1929. Wittenberg won last year, 8 to 0, and Dayton beat the Buckeye conference champions in 1927. The 1930 result is a toss-up.

Akron, with only one defeat against it, and that by Heidelberg, co-champions of the state, plays Mount Union, one of the better Ohio conference teams and should win. The Zippers have a fine team.

Case Favored
Western Reserve, demoralized by seven consecutive defeats by lopsided scores, may gather itself together in time to take Case, but it is doubtful. Three changes in coaches have not helped Reserve's morale.

Miami should walk over Cincinnati, but probably won't as three stars backs are out with injuries. The Oxford team will be satisfied with a victory in Fee Simple. Xavier has small chance against the Indians.

Old Parts Salvaged By Salem Concern Used To Good Advantage

Automobiles represent some of the finest kind of machine work. In the great factories metallurgists spend years in improving the quality of the metal used, engineers spend years in improving the form of a simple gear and expert shopmen work for production that should outwear any other class of machinery.

It is doubtful whether drivers get full use out of an automobile. Not being a mechanic himself, a motorist, when trouble develops, is looking for a trade-in. That course may be wise in instances where money is no object. It is fine to have a brand new car every year, but a large part of the population cannot well afford such luxury. To them the maintenance of the car they have is the question.

Because machinery of this kind does not wear out, concerns have grown up in the country roundabout that buy cars, take them apart, and sell the parts. A man may through accident break a part in an otherwise good auto, or through some unfortunate adjustment one part may be worn down beyond service. His neighbor, with just the same kind of a car, may have the same experience, except that the part he breaks or that wears down may be another part. It is obvious that in the two machines are the makings of a perfectly good one.

It is also obvious that if a driver can secure a part of a machine that is not worn from auto wreckers he can rehabilitate his car as a fraction of the cost of new parts. Here is where the concerns like the Axelrod Auto Wrecking company prove their value. They buy old machines and wrecked cars. They examine the parts and those that show the effect of wear, go to the junkman. Others go on sale.

Five big yards and a central warehouse give the Axelrod concern unusual facilities. It does not matter much what the name of the car you drive is, in all probability this firm will have its parts. Used tires with thousands of miles of wear in them, used batteries that have a year or so of usefulness in reserve, radiators that are not even marred, seat cushions—a thousand different things—can be found at the yard at 511 East Pershing or in the warehouse of this company, and garage men and wise owners know this fact.

NEW RIEGEL—Frank L. Thiel, farmer, came home from rabbit hunting to discover he had been shot. Opening up the front of his coat, a rain of shot fell upon the floor. Examination disclosed the jacket had been perforated in a score of places but the heavy cloth had protected his body.

OCRA COKE ISLAND, N. C.—A number of whales have been sighted off Ocraoke Island recently, fishermen have reported. One of the largest whales sighted was about 60 feet long.

Leetonia Man Has Exceptional Results In Growing Of Poultry

It has often been said that it pays to keep chickens, but it is not often that poultrymen keep records accurately enough to prove such a statement. A record covering a full season has been completed by N. G. Bauman of Leetonia which demonstrates clearly what can be expected from chickens if attention is paid to the fundamentals, having good chicks with which to start, exercising good care and management and using a good commercial feed.

Bauman bought his chicks in the spring of 1929 from R. H. Vaughn & Son of Columbiana. As his experience at that time had been limited, Mr. Bauman requested the service and help of Purina service made available by the Purina Mills, and obtained by calling the A. W. Glass Feed store.

Report Shows Results

Bauman fed Purina feeds exclusively. The following report demonstrates the results:

At the age of five months he housed his pullets averaging about four pounds. They had cost him exactly 91 cents each. This figure represents the cost of the chicks, feed, fuel and litter with the income from the broilers deducted. At six months of age 50 per cent of the pullets were laying. From the time the pullets were housed until Nov. 1 each had laid an average of 222 eggs or an average of 15 eggs a month.

These eggs were produced at a cost of 18¢ a dozen and for every hundred pounds of Purina chicken chowder (laying mash) that these chickens ate, they rolled out 426 eggs. His profit per hen over and above feed cost was $3.12 per hen.

Bauman Lands Service

Bauman says he learned a lot of things from this year's work. His figures have shown him that it pays to get good chicks at the start and that the cost of a hundred pounds of feed is not nearly as important as the net cost of housing a pullet or the cost of producing a dozen eggs. He says that in buying feed he is really buying eggs. The feed containing the most eggs per bag is the cheapest by far. Purina chicken chowder and Purina hen chow coupled with the service available with these feeds produces eggs at a low cost because a lot of eggs cost a little but a few eggs cost a lot.

Owner Suffers

The owner suffers and the character and reputation of a contractor are shown to be of as much value as the few dollars that are to be saved in the first instance and paid later by depending on the lowest bidder. Contracting work is as though one orders a suit of clothes made up. He can entrust the job to a cheap workman, and find the suit a misfit and unsatisfactory, or he can go to a tailor of reputation, and with the same materials achieve a masterpiece. He may also adopt either one of these courses in building a house.

Nor does one save money always by using the low priced offer. In fact, there is a reasonable limit by which these things must be considered. Less than a fair price means either loss or poor work—and most contractors may be depended upon not to lose on a job.

Hans Well Qualified

M. L. Hans, contractor at 552 East Sixth street, is as well qualified as any man to do a low priced job. He has the best of labor saving machinery, the experience and knowledge to use it well, and he can buy materials as cheaply as the next man.

VARIOUS TYPES OF COMPOUNDS FOUND IN GAS

Gasoline is a complex compound of hydrocarbons. It varies greatly in its proportions and consequently in action and in the power that may be obtained from it. To fit it for use in your motor these variations must be studied and the various ingredients so compounded as to give you the best results.

In search for that which would best serve this city's motor car drivers, Sheen Super Service at 838 North Lincoln avenue finally decided upon Freedom gasoline as being the best that could be obtained. The reasons for this choice are as follows:

Gasoline for motor uses should be so blended as to contain a proper proportion of quick firing atoms, that the car may start without trouble even in cold weather, but it must also contain a certain balance of slow firing qualities, that the power may be developed during the entire period of this firing, without those sharp explosions that cause the motor to knock. Internal combustion engines, to which class all automobile engines belong, operate by burning gasoline, not by exploding it. Too quick combustion does not generate full power and does cause knocks; too slow burning means less power and more carbon.

SKILL REQUIRED IN REPRODUCING FURNITURE WORK

Reproduction of some of the handsome antique pieces of furniture is a fine test of skill and taste. William Bodendorfer of the Bodendorfer Furniture company at 121 East State, is a dealer in the art.

These pieces are so attractive, so artistic in lines and appropriateness, that many of the best homes have ordered reproductions of such pieces for their furniture so far as they could in furnishing the home. The reproductions, for practical utility, serve much better than the originals, and in the general effect are just as pleasing.

Bodendorfer can repair and reupholster antiques of all patterns, he can make duplicates of any you like, and he can build overstuffed furniture to your order.

His store carries a fine assortment of new furniture, selected with the taste of a lover of good lines and fine finishes.

CAMBRIDGE, Miss.—A 30-year-old will was filed for probate here recently, disposing of the $35,000 estate of Freeman Nickerson, who died in October. Though the will was drawn up half a century ago, it never had been altered in any way.

Correct Installation Of Furnace Important Factor

A furnace cannot be expected to heat any house satisfactorily unless it is installed correctly. A common mistake made in buying furnaces is to get them too small for the cubic contents of the house. The result is that the furnace is even moderately cold weather is forced to full capacity, quickly wearing it out and wasting fuel, and when extremely cold weather comes on the furnace is not capable of keeping the house warm.

Many people fail to realize that furnace installation is an engineering job. Even the placing of the warm air ducts leading from the furnace to the rooms can counteract the heating capacity of the furnace to a great degree. These things must be figured out. If any one room of the house is exposed more to the weather, that room should have more heat. When it has more heat it must have a greater return air capacity—again an engineering job.

A good furnace of sufficient capacity, installed as it should be installed, keeps the house warm through a volume of warm air—not an influx of extremely hot air in certain places. It makes the atmosphere pleasant all through the house, and when the furnace maker's directions as to humidity are followed the air is both healthful and delightful.

Therefore it would seem to be a selection of the right man to put in the furnace than of the furnace itself. But the right way to do the job is to let the man who understands these things help in the selection of the furnace, and then hold him responsible for the whole job. In that way satisfaction will result in nearly every case.

Munsell & Vincent at 441 North Rose avenue, lay claim to being heating engineers. They do their work after the best practices followed in the furnace industry and take into consideration all of the elements that should enter. The result is satisfactory and economical.

For the house, and perhaps 90 per cent of the exterior of the average frame house is covered with paint. Therefore it is not hard to understand why paint and paper make such a difference in the appearance of a home.

The time of year is at hand when most of us spend a great deal more time indoors. We entertain more at home, and for our own sakes as well as our guests', we should keep the appearance of our homes as good as possible. The answer is to give the exterior a thorough coat of paint, shellac and wax the floors, varnish or paint the woodwork, and paper where necessary. Regardless of how well satisfied you may be with your home in its present condition, you will be greatly surprised at the wonderful change that can be wrought in it with a small expenditure of time and money.

You can do a large part of this work yourself if you purchase your supplies from a concern such as the Redinger Wallpaper and Paint store, 196 South Broadway. You are practically sure of getting good results and beautiful effects in redecorating your home.

Redinger's has a complete stock of paints, varnishes, and enamels for every purpose, as well as a wide variety of new wallpaper designs in attractive patterns.

COLUMBIANA

Columbiana amateur actors scored a hit Monday and Tuesday evening at the High school auditorium in the musical show, "See You Later," for the benefit of the two local troops of Boy Scouts. Jimmie LaVerre Mason, of the Triangle Producing Co., Greensboro, N. C., was the director and also took one of the parts in the cast. Mrs. Lester Harrold served as accompanist. The members of the cast were Willis Orr, Kathryn Donbar, Hildred Esterly, Don Slagle, Mary Zimmerman, Willard Hoffman, John Beswick, John Ryan, Jr., Francis Reinher and Jimmie LaVerre. The girls' chorus was especially well drilled by the director. The girls were: Sally Detweiler, Betty Durkee, Ellen Warwick, Josephine Jepson, Ruth Slagle, Velma Wilson, Dorothy McGale, Christine Baughman, Mary Readshaw, Eleanor Fisher, Louise Fullerton, Eleanor Lehman, Virginia Shaffer and Betty Burke. Joe McGahan, Norman Magill, Raymond Hobart and Henry Reinher, Jr. were in a mixed chorus.

Two groups of little girls were designated as a broom chorus and work chorus. The participants were: Wanda Sheets, Vivian Hum, Evelyn Hooper, Sara Todd, Betty Beewick, Dawn Stacy, Mary Chesnut, Ellen Esterly, Dorothy Sheets, Maxia Gruber, Arlene Harrold, Alice Stacy, Virginia Heim, Marguerite McGale and Mary Anglenyer. Members of the two troops of scouts also took part in the opening scene, which depicted a scout convention. Much of the success of the show is due to the untiring efforts of the two local Scoutmasters, Charles Reinher and Dent Graham. The scouts will use the money derived from the show in the construction of a scout cabin and camp.

Honors Memory of Great South American Liberator

LA PAZ, CAPITAL OF BOLIVIA

VENEZUELA.—Freedom is man's greatest gift to man. Each country has its own particular hero enshrined in its heart and each country feels its hero is the greatest of all heroes.

All Venezuela is preparing to honor the hundredth anniversary of the death of Simon Bolivar, the great liberator of the South American states the man who freed his country from the Spanish oppressor, and helped other provinces to obtain the priceless boon of freedom. His life was spent in the service of mankind and although he had at his command and unlimited control the revenues of three countries, he died without a cent of public money in his possession.

It was a visit in 1819 to the United States that sowed in the heart of the young Venezuelan grandee the seed of freedom. He was born in Caracas, Venezuela, on July 24, 1783, of wealthy and noble parentage. Young Simon was sent to Europe to further his education and lived for some years in Madrid. During his travels in Europe he was an eyewitness of some of the stirring scenes enacted during the last phases of the French Revolution.

It was on his return to Venezuela, which country he reached via America, that he saw that sometimes an organized minority could be more powerful than an overwhelming majority. From then on he decided to identify himself with the cause of freedom and independence, a cause which was already alive in the Spanish colonies.

It was on July 5, 1811, that Venezuela declared its independence. Bolivar was in command of an important fort but not being supported he had to abandon the place and owing to inaction of various Venezuelan leaders the Spanish recovered their advantage. In 1812, Bolivar received a commission to operate against Spanish troops on the Magdalena River. And the real war for freedom was on.

By clever strategy, Bolivar succeeded in forcing his way into the heart of Venezuela and gained the support of the people and so with augmented forces he began his great drive. Bolivar met with many vicissitudes and reverses and the country passed alternately into the hands of the insurrectionists and the royalists. Enormous Spanish forces were landed and Bolivar, crushed and hopeless embarked for Kingston, Jamaica, in 1814. An attempt on his life was unsuccessful.

It was President Petion, of Haiti, who furnished Bolivar with the small army that was to fight the way to freedom for Bolivar and his countrymen. With a small force the liberator returned to South America. The hostile forces encountered each other in 1817 and a desperate battle was waged by Bolivar against overwhelming odds. But two days of desperate man-to-man fighting found the royalists defeated and Bolivar saw the beginning of the road that was to lead to his glory. Several further victorious engagements gave him complete possession of Bogota and New Granada. Bolivar, hailed as the deliverer and father of his country, gained in power and this power enabled him to enact a law whereby the republics of Venezuela and New Granada were to be united under the title of the Republic of New Granada. By the middle of the year 1821 the Spaniards had been driven from every part of the province and so the constitution of Colombia was adopted by enthusiastic and general approbation.

The next step of Bolivar was to free the neighboring provinces of Ecuador and Peru. Determined to secure their liberation he waged an intensive and strategic warfare on the Spaniards. In 1825, Upper Peru was named Bolivia in honor of the liberator.

For many years Bolivar had to contend with internal intrigues and had to suppress many counter-revolutionists who were told that altruism of Bolivar wished to become a second Napoleon. But the sterling honesty and altruism of Bolivar finally triumphed, and when he died on December 17, 1830, he was in supreme power over the liberated provinces.

Flavoring the Home-Baked Ham

The old-fashioned cook was cheerfully explaining why she had a reputation for baking such delicious hams. "Always I used to add a pint of good sherry in the baking, and baste the meat a lot." Cooking sherry of a sort is still available, and improves the flavor of the meat a good deal.

But there are other equally desirable seasonings. To begin with, ham should be cooked thoroughly, though slowly. Like roast beef, this is one of our popular meats, which, too often, is not as tender as it should be. That is sometimes due to the quality of the meat itself, but more often to the tendency to cook it too quickly. Ham should first be cleaned—brushed with warm water. Then soaked overnight. It the morning put into fresh cold water to cover and simmer, slowly, for three hours or more, depending on the size, but allowing about 30 minutes per pound. Test with a fork for tenderness, and when well cooked, remove from fire and let cool off in the water in which it was cooked. Then remove the skin from the ham, and it is now ready for baking.

Cut the fat around the ham in squares (or scoring, as it is called) and push a clove into each square. Then sprinkle thickly with brown sugar—about one cupful—and a dash of pepper. Now place in roasting pan with the fat side up. About two cups of liquid should be added, and the nature of this liquid will contribute much toward the excellence of the ham. Cider, pineapple juice, grape juice, ginger ale, or some more exhilarating liquid—all are good blends with the natural ham flavor. Bake in a hot oven for about half an hour, basting with the pan liquid frequently, so that it penetrates the meat as much as possible.

If desired the liquid in the pan may be thickened with a little flour and served as additional gravy with the hot meat.
